A TERRIBLE CONFESSION.

A Physician Presents Some Startling Facts—Can It Be that the Danger Indicated is Universal

The following story—which is attracting wide attention from the press—is so remarkable that we cannot excuse ourselves if we do not lay it before our readers entire

To the Editor of the Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat —Sir —On the first day of June 1881 I lay at my residence in this city surrounded by my friends and waiting for death. Heaven only knows the agony I then endured for words can never describe it. And yet, if a few years previous any one had told me that I was to be brought so low, and by so terrible a disease I should have scoffed at the idea. I had always been uncommonly strong and healthy, and weighed over 200 pounds and hardly knew in my own experience, what pain or sickness were. Very many people who will read this statement realize at times that they are unusually tired and cannot account for it. They feel dull pains in various parts of the body and do not understand why. Or they are exceedingly hungry one day and entirely without appetite the next. This was just the way I felt when the relentless malady which had fastened itself upon me first began. Still I thought nothing of it, that probably I had taken a cold which would soon pass away. Shortly after this I noticed a heavy, and at times neuralgic pain in one side of my head, but as it would come one day and be gone the next, I paid little attention to it. Then my stomach would get out of order and my food often failed to digest, causing at times great inconvenience. Yet even as a physician I did not think that these things meant anything serious. I fancied I was suffering from malaria and doctored myself accordingly. But I got no better. I next noticed a peculiar color and odor about the fluids I was passing—also that there were large quantities one day and very little the next, and that a persistent froth and scum appeared upon the surface and a sediment settled. And yet I did not realize my danger for indeed seeing these symptoms continually I finally became accustomed to them and my suspicion was wholly disarmed by the fact that I had no pain in the affected organs or in their vicinity. Why I should have been so blind I cannot understand.

I consulted the best medical skill in the land. I visited all the famed mineral springs in America and traveled from Maine to California. Still I grew worse. No two physicians agreed as to my malady. One said I was troubled with spinal irritation, another dyspepsia, another heart disease, another general debility, another congestion of the base of the brain, and so on through a long list of common diseases, the symptoms of many of which I really had. In this way several years passed during which time I was steadily growing worse. My condition had really become pitiable. The slight symptoms I at first experienced were developed into terrible and constant disorders. My weight had been reduced from 207 to 130 pounds. My life was a burden to myself and friends. I could retain no food on my stomach, and lived wholly by injections. I was a living mass of pain. My pulse was uncontrollable. In my agony I frequently fell to the floor and clutched the carpet and prayed for death! Morphine had little or no effect in deadening the pain. For six days and nights I had the death premonitory hiccoughs constantly! My water was filled with tube-casts and albumen. I was struggling with Bright's Disease of the kidneys in its last stages!

While suffering thus I received a call from my pastor, the Rev Dr Foote, at that time rector of St Paul's Episcopal church, of this city. I felt that it was our last interview but in the course of conversation Dr Foote detailed to me the many remarkable cures of cases like my own which had come under his observation. As a practicing physician and a graduate of the schools I derided the idea of any medicine outside the regular channels being in the least beneficial. So solicitous, however, was Dr Foote, that I finally promised I would waive my prejudice. I began its use on the first day of June, 1881, and took it according to directions. At first it sickened me but this I thought was a good sign for one in my debilitated condition. I continued to take it; the sickening sensation departed and I was finally able to retain food upon my stomach. In a few days I noticed a decided change for the better as also did my wife and friends. My hiccoughs ceased and I experienced less pain than formerly. I was so rejoiced at this improved condition that, upon what I had believed but a few days before was my dying bed, I vowed in the presence of my family and friends should I recover I would both publicly and privately make known this remedy for the good of humanity wherever and whenever I had an opportunity, and this letter is in fulfillment of that vow. My improvement was constant from that time and in less than three months I had gained 26 pounds in flesh, became entirely free from pain and I believe I owe my life and present condition wholly to Warner's Safe Cure, the remedy which I used.

Since my recovery I have thoroughly re-investigated the subject of kidney difficulties and Bright's disease, and the truths developed are astounding. I therefore state deliberately and as a physician that I believe more than one-half the deaths which occur in America are caused by Bright's disease of the kidneys. This may sound like a rash statement but I am prepared to verify it fully. Bright's disease has no distinctive features of its own (indeed it often develops without any pain whatever in the kidneys or their vicinity) but has the symptoms of nearly every other common complaint. Hundreds of people die daily whose burials are authorized by a physician's certificate as occurring from "Heart Disease," "Apoplexy," "Paralysis," "Spinal Complaint," "Rheumatism," "Pneumonia," and the other common complaints when in reality it is from Bright's disease of the kidneys. Few physicians and fewer people realize the extent of this disease or its dangerous and insidious nature. It steals into the system like a thief, manifests its presence if at all by the commonest symptoms and fastens itself in the constitution before the victim is aware of it. It is nearly as hereditary as consumption, quite as common and fully as fatal. Entire families, inheriting it from their ancestors, have died and yet none of the number knew or realized the mysterious power which was removing them. Instead of common symptoms it often shows none whatever but brings death suddenly from convulsions, apoplexy or heart disease.

As one who has suffered, and knows by bitter experience what he says, I implore every one who reads these words not to neglect the slightest symptoms of kidney difficulty. No one can afford to hazard such chances.

I make the foregoing statements based upon facts which I can substantiate to the letter. The welfare of those who may possibly be sufferers such as I was is an ample inducement for me to take the step I have, and if I can successfully warn others from the dangerous path in which I once walked, I am willing to endure all the professional and personal consequences. ### The Chinese Driven to the Steamship Dock.

GOV SQUIRE APPEALS FOR AID.

One Hundred Chinamen Placed Aboard the Queen of the Pacific—Militia now Patrolling the Streets—Trouble Feared To-Day

SEATTLE, Feb 7—At last the long-drawn out anti-Chinese agitation has reached the culminating point so far as Seattle is concerned. It was thought by many when the United States troops were withdrawn from here that the agitation was dead and as the weeks went by without the commission of any overt act this opinion was strengthened. As events show however the feeling was not ever dormant and the agitators have been quietly laying plans all the while. An effort was made to put these plans into execution to-day though with what success cannot yet be said

An anti-Chinese meeting was held last night, at which a committee was appointed for the ostensible purpose of visiting Chinatown and ascertaining whether the city sanitary regulations were properly observed by the Chinamen. The committee commenced its work at 7 o'clock this morning. Headed by Acting Chief of Police Murphy and accompanied by an enormous crowd which had apparently come together by previous understanding it proceeded to Chinatown. The mode of procedure was simple. The committee would approach a China house and knock at the door. When the occupants appeared they were asked questions relating to the observance of the cubic air and other city ordinances. While the conversation was in progress the crowd would enter the house and begin packing the contents upon a wagon which would appear at that juncture. It was useless for the Chinamen to resist and they generally acquiesced with as good a grace as possible. When their movable goods were loaded in the wagons they were also placed on board and driven to the Ocean dock where the Queen of the Pacific was lying ready to sail for San Francisco

Not the slightest warning of this movement had been given and the authorities were totally unprepared for it. The police force generally sided with the crowd and made no effort to stop the work of removal. Sheriff McGraw was soon on the scene and commanded the mob to disperse but they paid no attention to him. When he would collect a few citizens and attempt to interfere the crowd would cease operations at that point but carry it on without cessation at other quarters.

This continued for several hours, Sheriff McGraw, Judge Green and Mayor Yesler making such efforts as they could in behalf of law, but without avail

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

About 10 o'clock Governor Squire, who is in the city, issued the following proclamation

To the people of Washington territory

WHEREAS It is represented to me by the mayor of the city of Seattle as follows

Hon Watson C Squire—Sir—The Chinese residents of the city of Seattle are being unlawfully removed from the city by a mob unlawfully gathered together. The authority of the city is not sufficient to keep the peace or preserve order. I appeal to you for aid and assistance

HENRY L. YESLER Mayor

Now Therefore I Watson C Squire, governor of Washington territory do hereby publish this my proclamation, warning all persons to desist from breach of the peace and that all peaceably disposed persons shall retire to their homes except such persons as are disposed to assist the sheriff and the duly constituted civil authorities in maintaining law and order. And I request all persons who are disposed to assist in maintaining order to enroll themselves under the sheriff immediately for that purpose

Furthermore I order the military companies of this city to immediately place themselves under arms and that the commanding officers of such companies report forthwith to the sheriff of King county for the purpose of rendering him military assistance if need be in maintaining the law.

Done at Seattle this the 7th day of February A D 1886. WATSON C SQUIRE Governor

HOWLS OF DEFIANCE

This was read to the crowd. It was received with howls of defiance. It had absolutely no pacifying effect

An attempt was then made to ring the fire bells but they were soon silenced. Two local companies of militia and three companies of home guards organized at the time United States troops were withdrawn however responded as quickly as possible but by the time they were ready for action there seemed nothing for them to do

At noon 400 Chinamen were huddled together in the warehouse on the ocean dock, and the immense crowd prevented them from returning to their homes. Indeed none of them showed much inclination to return, as they were thoroughly cowed and eager to get away

The officers of the Queen of the Pacific however refused to receive the Chinamen without tickets. They prepared hot water and hose and took every precaution to defend the vessel from any attempt to force the Chinamen on board. In this dilemma a collection was raised and enough subscribed to pay the passage of about 100. These were received on board each one expressing a desire to go, and declining the offers of the officials to protect them from violence if they remained. The Queen of the Pacific should have sailed at 1 P M but was detained in the hope that some arrangement would be made for the passage of the remaining Chinamen who were huddled on the dock unable to return to their homes and perfectly willing to go.

About 3 P M the militia marched down to Chinatown and took possession. It was thoroughly deserted except by a few merchants who had been allowed to remain temporarily

At 4 P M a writ of habeas corpus was issued alleging that Chinamen were illegally restrained of liberty on board of the Queen of the Pacific. The writ was made returnable at 10 this morning. In the meantime the steamer was enjoined from sailing.

GUARDED AT THE DOCK

The situation at this hour (11 P M) is uncertain. [illegible] the mob has largely dispersed. The Chinamen who are not on board the Queen of the Pacific are huddled together on the Ocean dock. Two companies of militia and 100 home guards are patroling the streets. The Oregon Improvement company also has extra men guarding its docks and warehouses.

The authorities are determined that no Chinamen shall leave now unless they desire. Every effort will be made to avoid bloodshed but the determination is firmly expressed on this point.

Gov Squire in addition to issuing a proclamation sent the following telegram to the secretary of war and the interior, and Gen Gibbon commanding the department of the Columbia

SEATTLE W T Feb 7

An insane mob is forcing the Chinese to leave Seattle. The civil authorities are arming a posse comitatus to protect them. A serious conflict is probable. I respectfully request that United States troops be immediately sent to Seattle. The troops at Fort Townsend can arrive soonest and probably will be sufficient. I have issued a proclamation

WATSON C SQUIRE Governor

Troops at Fort Townsend and Vancouver are ready to move and are only awaiting orders from Washington

Much surprise is expressed that the movement was arranged so quietly. The city is full of strangers and it is hard to tell whence they came. It is believed by many that the plans were made in Tacoma. There are many prominent agitators from that place, as well as reporters of both Tacoma papers arrived here yesterday. Mayor Weisbach of Tacoma is also here and it is freely asserted that he is engineering the movement

GOV SQUIRE APPEALS FOR TROOPS

VANCOUVER BARRACKS W T Feb 7—This morning Gen Gibbon department commander received application from Gov Squire for troops to quell the riot at Seattle. He replied that he had no authority to move troops except by express order of the president. Nothing has been received from Washington

TROUBLE FEARED IN THE MORNING

SEATTLE Feb 8—At 10 o'clock Capt Alexander of the Queen of the Pacific appeared in court and in answer to the summons to produce the Chinamen made affidavit that he was forcibly restrained from doing so. Judge Green therefore issued an order to the sheriff to have the Chinamen in court at 8:15 A M. This will necessitate the removal of the Chinamen who are on the steamer and will bring matters to a crisis. Every preparation has been made for a conflict at that hour and from the present aspect of affairs it seems unavoidable unless the anti-Chinese element yields. There is little prospect of their doing this

At present the city is patrolled by militia and home guards. Sentries are stationed at every corner. Every precaution has been taken to prevent any attempt that may be made to fire Chinatown and there is now little apprehension of this being done

Besides 100 Chinamen on the Queen of the Pacific about 300 are in the warehouse on the Ocean dock guarded by the anti-Chinese committee. They have been fed and for the most part are quietly sleeping on blankets. There are rumors of an attempt being made to put these on the Portland train which leaves here at [illegible] A M but they are probably nothing but rumors

Everything is reasonably quiet to-night and it is not likely that a conflict if it occurs will take place before morning. The critical moment will be when the sheriff attempts to remove the Chinamen from the steamer to the courthouse. A few Chinese houses were pillaged early in the day but this has now been stopped. The authorities are active and vigilant and though anxious to avoid bloodshed are determined to vindicate the law no matter what the cost may be

THE AGITATORS BAFFLED

1:30 A M—The Portland train has just been sent out two hours ahead of time. This baffles the agitators, who wished to put the Chinamen on board

Dr F. B. Eaton Oculist and Aurist, S. W. corner First and Morrison sts.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC

Opinion of a Man who was Interested in Its Construction.

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 7—A gentleman who for the past two years has been actively interested in the construction of the Canadian Pacific railroad on what is known as the Ross division is now in this city. In an interview published to-day he says "Talk about the Canadian Pacific being in a position to hold the whip hand over other transcontinental lines is ridiculous. At the present time," and adds that a full year will be necessary to place the track in a fit condition to run on schedule time

After relating some of the difficulties still to be overcome in construction he says "There are hundreds and hundreds of miles of the Canadian Pacific that will never earn one single dollar by local traffic. After you leave Winnipeg there is for about three hundred miles, some open country fit for agriculture and then you strike a country of alkali not fit for the habitation of a jack rabbit and no country is found there in which a white man could live until you reach the waters of Puget sound. Up in the Selkirks 40 degrees below zero was the usual winter temperature and thirty feet of snow the average. The winter season doesn't begin to moderate until well along in March and snow is very deep in April. There's a good deal of timber along the road but one acre of timber in Oregon is worth twenty on the Canadian Pacific. There is to be an attempt made next spring at gold mining near Donald City but whoever goes there will be sorry for it. As to the gigantic frauds complained of in Canadian papers of collusion between engineers and contractors especially on the eastern end there can be but little doubt of their truth. The charges are, you remember, that engineers falsely reported the measurement of rock and earthwork done by contractors. Some suits may be instituted but I fail to see how any convictions can be secured as it will be almost impossible to measure the work done especially in cases where the face of a bluff was blasted off or a swampy piece of ground filled in to run a train over the road. Why you couldn't hire the contractors and engineers to peril their lives on so daring a ride as that would be. It will be some time before the Pacific Coast Steamship property will benefit by any through traffic over the Canadian Pacific"

UTAH

NOTES FROM SALT LAKE

SALT LAKE Feb 7—This morning raids were made by deputy marshals on the residences of George Q Cannon of the Mormon first presidency. His supposed latest polygamous wife who had dodged service heretofore and other witnesses were subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury. United States District Attorney Dickson offers a reward of $500 for the capture of Cannon

The territorial supreme court sustains on appeal the conviction of Apostle Lorenzo Snow in the first district court, for unlawful cohabitation. It recites that Snow in Nauvoo illegally first married two women at once, the ceremony being null and void. He then married successively seven other women, all whom he supports and holds out to the world as his wives. This is shown by testimony while at the same time he dwells regularly with Minnie, his latest polygamous wife, who has a three months old baby. The court says this is one of the most flagrant cases of polygamy in the territory and no error was made in convicting the apostle

The court also sustains the conviction of Brigham Hampton of conspiracy to establish houses of ill fame and lure thither gentiles and watch their operations and says "A wicked and disgraceful conspiracy is disclosed and must be condemned by all"

Mr Craft had been on intimate terms with a daughter of Mr Harlan and it was supposed it would eventually result in matrimony between the young people. A week ago the young lady was married to another young man of this place. Report says that all fault on Craft was caused by remarks which he had publicly made affecting the character of Miss Harlan. A PROHIBITION BILL

WASHINGTON Feb 7—Senator Colquitt of Georgia will introduce into the senate this week a bill entitled "A bill for local option in the District of Columbia." The bill provides for a vote by the people upon the question and is extremely rigorous. Under its provisions no intoxicating liquors can be manufactured within the limits of the District of Columbia or imported therein and if it becomes a law no wines can be used at the state dinners of the president. The bill has been submitted to several senators and representatives and it is said that its main features have been approved by many of them. Senators Blair of New Hampshire and Hoar of Massachusetts are quoted as saying that they will favor it

TALK OF A BLAINE BOOM

NEW YORK Feb 7—A Washington special to the [illegible] says that the presence here of a number of friends of James G Blaine, who were regarded as managers of his campaign, attracts much attention and causes much gossip. It is said they have agreed that Blaine should remain in the background until the state campaign in Maine when he shall take the stump [illegible] and start a presidential boom

The Chinese Question and the Knights of Labor—A Circular Letter from the Catholic Clergy of Australia—Eastern News Items

WASHINGTON Feb 7—The house to-morrow after the call of states will probably resume in committee of the whole consideration of the half [illegible] bill. Mr Morrison will attempt to confine the discussion to the merits of the bill, but owing to the wide latitude given by the rules governing debate in committee it is likely that several speeches relating to the silver question will be delivered

It is the intention of the appropriations committee to call up the pension appropriation bill for action on Tuesday. This bill usually provokes little discussion, but recent agitation as to new pension legislation may on this occasion elicit a general expression of opinion on the measure. Should it receive final action on Tuesday, and should the tax bill be disposed of Wednesday will be devoted to consideration of the Atlantic & Pacific land forfeiture bill

According to special order made on Friday last the Fitz John Porter bill will be taken up Thursday but it is understood that a vote will not be reached this week

IN THE SENATE

Senator Blair hopes to secure the right of way in the senate to-morrow immediately after the morning hour for his educational bill and the chances are in his favor. Senator Cameron wishes to have the bill to create an assistant secretaryship of the navy disposed of and will make an effort to secure this result at the earliest opportunity. Senator Hoar proposes to ask the senate to take up the bankruptcy bill and Senator Platt contemplates pressing the bill for admission of Washington Territory but neither Senator Hoar nor Senator Platt will antagonize the educational bill

The regular order, whatever it may prove to be is likely to be laid aside within a day or two to enable Senator Frye to make a speech on the resolution reported from the committee on foreign relations in regard to fisheries

There is a general expectation that the judiciary committee will be heard from to-morrow in relation to the refusal of the attorney general to furnish papers in the Duskin case. But the expectation has no other foundation than the fact that the committee's regular meeting day is Monday, and that the subject has been referred to the committee by the senate

OUR RELATIONS WITH AUSTRIA

Views of Ex-Minister Francis—Our Petroleum Trade, Etc

WASHINGTON Feb 7—Ex-minister to Austria, John M Francis is in the city. He says the strained relations between this government and Austria Hungary growing out of the Keiley difficulty are liable to result in an abrogation of the commercial treaty now in force between the two countries. Said he "The imports of Austria Hungary from the United States consist chiefly of petroleum, sewing machines, agricultural implements and cotton goods. The exports to this country include Bohemian ware, fine woolen stuffs, meerschaum goods, Russia leather goods and a great variety of other fancy articles for which the people are celebrated. I believe, roundly speaking, that our exports of petroleum to Austria Hungary amount to fifteen or eighteen millions of dollars per annum. The large houses at Triest export our petroleum to Greece and the islands of the archipelago besides supplying the home field almost exclusively. The Russian article has not been introduced very extensively. The dealers have had engagements for American petroleum a considerable length of time, and are slow to change. The American dealers of course have made great efforts to hold the trade. Russian petroleum has been used enough to show that it has less illuminating power than the American. Still it would answer the purpose of a light and it can be sold considerably cheaper than our product. The attempts to bring the Russian oil into general favor are incessant, but owing to the efforts of the dealers and the friendly relations existing between Austria Hungary and the United States [illegible] the latter calculated to discriminate against American petroleum

If there is to be an alienation and a rupture between the two nations it will be very easy for Austria Hungary to give effect to the Russian oil by imposing heavy tariff on the American article under the pretense of protecting home interests. The government also has control of the railways of the empire and discriminating rates might also be imposed in freights for it. By giving twelve months notice the treaty giving this country like privileges with other nations can be annulled.

From personal observation I know that the trade with Austria Hungary might be greatly increased especially in the line of common goods. Our machinery has obtained a very good start and if we can hold the market we can increase our exports in all departments from year to year. But even the superiority of our inventions and products would not enable them to surmount the obstacles which an unfriendly ministry could set up. Austria Hungary is one of the most important nations in the world commercially speaking. Her wheat production of about 150,000,000 bushels per annum exceeds the home demand while her flour and flour products are celebrated throughout Europe. Hungary raises most of the wheat. In Austria proper and Bohemia an important industry is the production of beets and the manufacture of sugar. No imported sugar can compete with this article. By using Russian petroleum and a greater proportion of English machinery the empire could get along without many of the commodities that are now imported from this country. The United States cannot afford to further strain its relationship with Austria Hungary."

THE CHINESE QUESTION.

Correspondence between a Knight of Labor and Chairman O'Neill

WASHINGTON Feb 7—The following correspondence shows the first result of the recent work of the Knights of Labor in regard to the exclusion of the Chinese. R J Deakers, as president of the Knights of Labor of this city received a communication from the Knights of Labor on the Pacific coast urging him to do all in his power to strengthen and increase the opposition in the East against Chinese immigration. Thousands of these letters have been sent to similar Knights of Labor all over the land. Mr Deakers addressed a note to Congressman O'Neill, chairman of the committee on labor, in regard to the matter and received a reply which shows that O'Neill is in hearty sympathy with the anti-Chinese movement. The following is the correspondence on the subject

WASHINGTON Feb 5 1886

Hon J. J. O'Neill Chairman of the Committee on Labor of the House of Representatives —Sir—I take the opportunity to forward to you the accompanying copy of a circular issued by the Knights of Labor of the Pacific coast setting forth their position on the Chinese question. The circular reached me enclosed in a letter which requested that I do all in my power to awaken in the East a renewed and strong interest in the question of Mongolian competition with white labor. I know of no more effective way to accomplish this than by inviting the co-operation of the chairman of a committee which has gratified all good men by the earnest and energetic manner in which it has inaugurated its work in the interest of labor. Monster petitions are preparing in California for transmittal to the East, urging absolute exclusion of the Chinese from our territory. If you can find time to give even briefly your views as to whether such absolute exclusion can best be obtained through further legislation or by the negotiation of a treaty with China it will afford me pleasure to present the same through the labor press to our friends on the Pacific coast. With great respect, yours truly

R. J. DEAKERS

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES WASHINGTON Feb 6 1886

R J Deakers, Esq —Dear Sir—A visit to the Pacific coast last summer but confirmed my previous impressions of the disastrous effects of Chinese labor when brought in competition with free American labor. Self preservation would justify the absolute exclusion of the race. If the legislation heretofore devised to restrict the bringing here of Chinese coolies is systematically evaded I presume the organized labor unions which recently met at San Jose Cal, will submit to congress some feasible plan for the suppression of this which I need hardly say when presented will find an humble advocate in myself. Yours truly

Something in the Literary Line

Chicago News

A current newspaper paragraph is to the effect that Mr Julian Hawthorne and his brother-in-law Mr George Parsons Lathrop are about to start a weekly paper devoted exclusively to literature. This is true. When Mr Hawthorne was in Chicago last December he talked freely about the project. As we understand it the scheme is to interest a number of literary men in this paper and conduct it on the co-operative plan. Certain wealthy gentlemen in New York have volunteered to contribute large sums to the support of the enterprise, but Mr Hawthorne prefers not to accept encouragement of this kind. He is confident that the publication will win on its merits and, unless it is able to do so, he will favor the abandonment of the scheme just as soon as it begins to droop and wane

OF INTEREST TO CATHOLICS.

A Circular Letter to Archbishop Gibbons from the Plenary Council of Australia.

BALTIMORE, Feb 7—Archbishop Gibbons has received a circular letter from the archbishops and bishops of Australia addressed to the archbishops and bishops of the United States saying

The archbishops and bishops of the church of Australia avail themselves of the occasion of their being assembled for holding their first plenary council to send their congratulations to the illustrious episcopate of the United States. The youngest daughter of the church cannot allow this occasion of so much joy to her to pass without communicating her gladness to her older sister

Of all national churches in communion with the holy see there is none to which the church of Australia bears so close a resemblance as that of the United States. The children of both churches are offspring of the same race. They speak a common language; their laws, customs and manners are akin; they are spread over regions of vast extent abounding in every form of national prosperity the full development of whose unlimited resources must raise both people to a foremost place amongst the nations of the earth. Density of population widely differs but their territorial extension is nearly the same. In both countries the foundations of the faith were laid amid many and grave difficulties. Those causes from which serious dangers to the faith have sprung, and may continue to spring for some time longer, were common to both. The faithful of both countries have had to contend against an anti-Catholic tradition in literature in political and social life, against deep-seated prejudice sometimes breaking out into open violence against systems of education against governments which if not hostile gave but little encouragement to the spread of our holy faith. Our children were not amongst the most favored, the wealthiest or the most esteemed of the land, yet both have laid the foundation of a faith deep and solid

As in America so here in Australia, the grain of mustard seed planted in a grateful soil has grown up to a goodly tree and for both in the providence of God a grand future is in store

You will rejoice to learn that our plenary council in the labors of which we are now engaged, requests the holy see to enrich our church with three new metropolitan sees with six new suffragan sees with four additional bishops, some vicars apostolic for the native races and with a national seminary which will be the means of developing the manifest vocations of our native youth.

A cardinal, an archbishop, one procurator of the metropolitan see, fifteen bishops, one vicar apostolic with fifty-two of our clergy constitute our first national synod

The success of your college now happily crowned by your national university is a matter of deep interest to us, and will we trust encourage our people to second our efforts in imitating your noble example. May the decrees of your great council amongst the first in the history of the church for its members and extent of its territory and for the importance of its deliberations be fruitful in countless blessings for the extirpation of error, for the diffusion of truth, for the happiness of your flocks, for the salvation of souls, by giving increased energy to the apostolic see, greater uniformity to discipline and a more extended sphere to the normal action of the church. We beg to remain your most loving and devoted brother in Christ

PATRICK F CARDMORAN,

Archbishop of Sydney apostolic delegate and seventeen others

THE STRIKE IN THE COKE REGION

PITTSBURG Feb 7—The Commercial Gazette's Mt Pleasant Pa special says The strikers held meetings at different places throughout the coke regions to-day and decided to march in a body to Scottdale to-morrow to attend a mass meeting. The week closed yesterday with several occurrences of a character which show the determination and desperation of the strikers. A number of men who have been working in the pits have received letters bearing the insignia of death with coffins and daggers while the inscription warned them to stop work immediately under penalty of death. The missives were spotted with blood and presented a very sanguinary appearance

At noon yesterday forty strikers discovered three men at work loading stock coke at Boyle's Bridgeport works. The workmen started to run, when the strikers gave chase firing at the fugitives, and abandoning pursuit when they were satisfied that the men would not attempt to work. The night previous, when cars were run into the Boyle works a band of strikers, armed with guns and revolvers lay behind ovens nearly the entire night to prevent any attempt at resumption of work. The miners are thoroughly posted on every movement of the operatives, being in constant communication with friends in Pittsburg

HATTON WORKING FOR LOGAN

CINCINNATI, Feb 7—A New York letter to the Enquirer says Ex-Postmaster General Hatton who has been in Washington for a week came back here to-day and announced himself for Logan as the republican presidential candidate for 1888. A significant thing about this is that the Hatton and Arthur crowds up to one week ago, were quietly canvassing Bob Lincoln's strength for that nomination. Hatton found Blaine so strong that he can only be broken by dividing the Blaine forces and thinks it can only be done with Logan. When the Blaine men were caucussing after his nomination at Chicago as to how the ticket should be completed Wm. Walter Phelps objected to the selection of Logan on the ground that it would make up a ticket for the rowdy crowd. Hatton's preference for Logan now seems to be based upon the idea so widely expressed by the New Jersey politician that Blaine and Logan appeal alike to the republican masses and that if Logan is pushed to the front Blaine's strength will be divided. Hatton has conferred with ex-president Arthur and the Arthur phalanx is likely to follow Hatton

A WARNING FROM THE SUN

NEW YORK Feb 7—Referring to the statement that President Cleveland sanctions Attorney General Garland's action the Sun says It seems that this new and most extraordinary case is to go on under his authority. We are very sorry because it indicates a willingness on the part of President Cleveland to exercise a doubtful power under circumstances which may very possibly lead to complications of a prejudicial character. To these complications he may perhaps be indifferent at present but we cannot forget that there is an election only two years hence and that issues in all directions may then assume importance that is not now apparent to everyone. Moreover nobody can suppose that the United States executive would have become a party to this patent suit if the attorney general had never held shares in the Pan Electric telephone company

FROM THE TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, Feb 7 A Tribune editorial says The press of both parties is now discussing the telephone scandal with vigor and diffusiveness. The verdict of the democratic press with few dissenting voices, is that the attorney general must either sell his stock or resign. The verdict of the republican press is that he must either be removed or impeached. The verdict of every journal of influence and character is that the telephone scandal requires a thorough searching impartial investigation at the hands of congress, whether the attorney general stays in or goes out

ADVICE FROM THE HERALD

NEW YORK Feb 7—Herald editorial "Mr President delays are dangerous. The senate is getting indignant. It will not be for the executive to keep the curtains down. That was an excellent idea that this administration lives behind glass doors but the people want the curtains pulled up. It is very possible and indeed certain that you have made mistakes but the people will forgive you. They will understand that you have been imposed on but they do not intend to have this wretched office seeking and office-getting in secret any longer. You cannot save the politicians who have deceived you and you would be very foolish to go down with them"

SALVATION ARMY SCANDAL.

PHILADELPHIA Feb 7—A special from Williamsport says The latest instance of ungodliness in the Salvation army is the elopement of Jerome H Smale with Miss McKee, a member of the organization. Miss McKee is a good looking buxom young woman and is fond of the attentions of men. Lately she has not been in good standing in the army but not long ago she was a shining light. THE BOYCOTT AT DALLAS

GALVESTON Feb 7—A special to the News from Dallas says Merchants here have been visited by a committee of the Knights of Labor who explained to them the cause of the boycott against the Mallory Steamship company and requested them to withdraw their patronage from that line. The committee received from a majority of the merchants assurances of support and sympathy and expressions of belief that their cause for complaint was just and deserving of support. A few merchants were non-committal

THE CIGAR MAKERS STRIKE

NEW YORK Feb 7—A meeting of the Progressive union cigar makers was held to-day to hear the report of the committee which was in conference with the manufacturers on Friday last. The proposition of the manufacturers was accepted and a committee will wait upon them and visit the various shops, and endeavor to arrange a scale of wages based upon an average of all the shops. It is believed the Progressives will return to work when this committee has reported

NO MORMON IMMIGRANTS

NEW YORK Feb 6—Mormon immigration to this country has practically stopped. There has not been a solitary arrival since last November. None are on the way and advices from the emigrant agency on the other side warrant the belief that the determined attitude of congress with reference to Mormonism as an institution has had a restraining effect upon intending pilgrims to Salt Lake.

BRITISH POLITICS.

The Country's Reception of the New Cabinet.

ATTITUDE OF THE PARNELLITES.

A New Party among the Probabilities—A Solution of the Land Question Promised Soon—The Advice of Mr Redmond

LONDON, Feb 7—A member of parliament says Before the new ministry has actually met parliament, clouds gather thickly over it. Neither by the Irish party nor by the country generally are the appointments deemed satisfactory. Members of the Irish party are becoming more and more suspicious. They recount the compact of six years ago and how they were betrayed by Sir Vernon Harcourt author of the severest coercion bill known to this century. Doubtless he is quite ready at any time to repeat the dose. Hitherto, when the liberals have recovered power they have soon turned round on their Irish allies. So, as in 1881 and 1882, the Irish leaders have for security only empty promises. A remarkable passage in Gladstone's address has not escaped attention. It puts the preservation of social order first in his list of great Irish questions, the very thing done by the late government. This looks like a vague threat of coercion. Another passage foreshadows an attempt to hang up the entire question of home rule for several months. It insists on preliminary examination and inquiry, but makes no allusion to specific measures. This confirms the conjecture that Gladstone intends to gain time enough to glide over the session.

The Parnellites cannot be hoodwinked and will not allow their cause to be shelved. They have taken an attitude of vigilant watchfulness, and are not trusting their entire confidence to either party.

The Salisbury ministry fully intended to do something for the mass of the unemployed in London and other large cities but tipped over before an opportunity came. The evil is growing more alarming every day, and the vast masses without work or food are determined not to starve without striking a blow somewhere. Nothing will be done by Gladstone. Therefore the fall of Salisbury is a distinct misfortune to the working classes. There is likely to be a dangerous uprising in many great cities before the winter is over

CHIEF SECRETARY MORLEY

The new cabinet is popularly known as the Gladstone Morley cabinet. Two decisive facts about it are that Morley is in as chief secretary for Ireland and that Lord Hartington is out. Morley's brilliant abilities, his singularly rapid rise in public life, not his extreme radicalism, explain Gladstone's departure from all precedent in offering the most important of cabinet offices to a man wholly without official experience. Lord Aberdeen in the vice royalty brings another new man to the front and whom his friends know to be able, devoted, conscientious and likely to win the goodwill of the Irish people. Energetic efforts put forth to induce Lord Hartington to join the ministry failed and home rule is the chief reason. Lord Spencer's acceptance of office provoked some surprise, and Trevelyan's much more. Trevelyan's recent declaration that there is no half way house between separation and absolute imperial control, remains uncanceled. So does his advice to keep the care of law and order in all the departments in the hands of the central government. Both declarations are irreconcilable with any Irish parliamentary scheme

There is an interesting puzzle in the situation that compels Lord Hartington to decline office in a cabinet which Trevelyan finds himself able to enter. Gladstone's address to his Midlothian constituents throws little light on all this obscurity, and apparently was meant to throw none. It is a masterpiece of ingenious unintelligibility. A single point stands out. There is to be an inquiry into the condition of Ireland before any proposal for legislation is made.'

Altogether the cabinet though able, is a makeshift. It could not be otherwise when so many liberal leaders hold aloof. The Parnellites express hope rather than confidence, but in the meantime they will do what they can to strengthen the ministry by discouraging outrages in Ireland, and by a moderate course in parliament

The liberal press in England discusses the whole subject with extreme caution. Gladstone himself is in the highest spirits and full of confidence.

A NEW PARTY.

A story circulated is that Hartington and others are conspiring for the formation of a new party, to be called the National Liberal party. The tories say it is going to be a big thing and to have at least 100 votes in the house of commons. Even the Spectator and the Economist hitherto strong liberal organs and extremely Gladstonely, profess to be afraid that if Lord Hartington should choose to exert himself for the purpose, he would be able to muster around him a compact phalanx. One hundred votes combined with the conservatives would possess sufficient strength to defeat the government whenever such defeat would inure to the benefit of the empire

The government of England is now completely in the hands of Gladstone's administration, the new cabinet having kissed the hand and received the seals of office from the queen at Osborne, with the usual formalities. The outgoing ministers attended at the palace for the purpose of giving up the seals at an earlier audience.

The appointment of the Earl of Aberdeen as lord lieutenant of Ireland strengthens the already unprecedentedly strong infusion of Gladstone element in the cabinet. The earl is expected to give Gladstone unquestioning support, and to prove an efficient instrument in executing Gladstone's Irish plans

The date of the reassembling of parliament has been postponed from the 16th to the 18th, to enable Gladstone to complete the transfer of public offices and his programme of legislation and to prepare for the Irish inquiry that he proposes to set on foot with the aid of the Earl of Aberdeen and John Morley

Midland radicals regard Jesse Collings's appointment to the secretaryship of the local government board under Chamberlain as a triumph for the agrarian agitators and the Birmingham caucus. Collings is Chamberlain's right hand man in the allotment movement and his first executive post in the liberal government gives him enormous power over questions directly affecting agrarian interests.

A SOLUTION OF THE LAND QUESTION

LONDON Feb 6—Robert Giffen statistician to the board of trade at the dinner of the Political Economy club, explained in detail his plan for transferring the agricultural lands of Ireland to peasant farmers and for compensating the present owners. It proposes that the imperial government shall buy out every landlord in Ireland, giving him consols at par equal in nominal amount to twenty years' purchase of the present judicial rents. The land is then to be given free to the present occupants subject only to a rent tax of one half or two-thirds of the present judicial rents payable to the local government of Ireland. The scheme contemplates the use of the imperial credit to the extent of £100,000,000 but the exchequer will be relieved of the cost of governing Ireland which amounts to about as much as interest on the above sum and Giffen declares the plan, if correctly worked will cost nobody a shilling

POLITICAL NOTES

LONDON Feb 7—Mr Redmond nationalist member of parliament in a speech at Monaghan to-day urged Irishmen to restrain their violent feelings and not to hamper the new government, which he said would take immediate steps to stop evictions

The appointment of Mr Broadhurst as under home secretary has caused a sensation in political circles, that gentleman being the first workingman that has ever risen to the ministry. The appointment is taken as an indication that it is Mr Gladstone's intention to rely upon the masses against the influences of the aristocracy. Liberal clubs are divided in opinion on the subject of reform, the Devonshire club disapproving of the appointment and the national liberal enthusiastically approving it.

Hostility of the whigs to Mr Gladstone is intended. This is shown in the difficulty experienced by the premier in filling the peeresses posts in the queen's household. The Duchesses of Bedford and Westminster have refused appointments, and others will follow their example

PARNELL WARNED

LONDON Feb 7—The Daily News now under Chamberlain's influence speaks out frankly. It tells Parnell that the liberal party will not allow him to dictate a sequence of measures. It warns him that if Gladstone tried to carry home rule, regardless of social order and unmindful of the claims of the land question he would find himself in a minority in the commons. On the other hand, he could carry just two branches of the scheme without Parnell's help

Morley though far more advanced on other Irish questions than Chamberlain agrees with him that land must come first. "The tenant," said Morley, "must be prevented from confiscating the property of the landlord"

Finally the Birmingham Post Chamberlain's organ, publishes a conspicuous editorial denying the impossibility of granting a parliament to Ireland

Other cabinet appointments have little or no bearing on the Irish questions, though omissions signify much. It is the Irish question which keeps out besides Lord Hartington, Bright, Goschen, Foster, Lord Selbourne, the Duke of Argyle, Lord Derby and Sir Henry James. Not one of these former colleagues of Gladstone would enter a cabinet in which home rule was an open question.

Justin McCarthy says If Morley is not sent to Ireland as a prelude to home rule, the whole thing is a dead failure, so far as Ireland is concerned. But I fully believe he is to be sent. There is much hope that Gladstone will bring in a liberal and comprehensive land purchase bill. Giffen's scheme finds approval almost everywhere. The fact is admitted that Parnell now holds the destiny of the government in the hollow of his hand.

A sound mind goes very seldom without a sound digestion, and nothing contributes toward it more than the use of Angostura Bitters, the world renowned appetizer and invigorator, manufactured only by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, MONDAY FEB. 8, 1886.

THE TWO SIDES OF IT

H. W. S

For years past THE OREGONIAN has been making every possible effort to awaken the wealth of Oregon, and especially of Portland, to a sense of its opportunities, duties and obligations. It has pointed out the fact that almost every avenue of industrial activity in a great and growing country was open to those who would occupy it; that it was a high duty of those who had amassed fortunes in the country to employ their capital and energies in these directions, that there was too much thought merely of rents and cent per cent, that as a consequence labor could find little or no employment, and that no promise or prospect of better things could appear till a public spirit were developed which would lay hold of the natural resources of the country and give working people something to do. It has pressed these things at all times, and by as earnest and emphatic words as it could frame into speech. Nor has THE OREGONIAN been talking without doing, for in itself and in the industries of which it is the center, it has been worked up by ceaseless endeavor till it has become a mine of wages. It is, in fact, the source of more wages than anything else in the Northwest, the great transportation companies alone excepted. In urging capitalists to put their money into enterprises to develop the resources of the country and employ labor, THE OREGONIAN therefore has not been giving precept without practice. The same pains and perseverance would have opened a hundred other avenues of industry that no one has yet been willing to enter. W. Scott

The inactivity and lethargy which have settled upon the Northwest this paper certainly has talked about with sufficient plainness. It has done its best, year after year, to impress the wealth of Portland with a sense of its opportunities and obligations. If it has not had much success, the fault is not its own. It has done what it could. It has seen labor clamorous for employment, and yet unable to find anything to do. It has pointed out the inevitable consequences of the lack of enterprise so apparent here, and has tried by every method of address it could employ to awaken a public spirit that seemed dormant or dead. The chief result has been only the displeasure of the unenterprising rich, which it did not fear, though along with this displeasure were the snivelling complaints of scrub journalism, that THE OREGONIAN was "burning up" the merchants, bankers and real estate owners of Portland.

One extreme is sluggish, unenterprising wealth which, though accumulated here, is insensible to its duties and opportunities; the other is the irresponsible leadership of the movement which is directed against the Chinese. There are here now, and have long been here, many men willing to work, yet unable to get work. Men who might set on foot the means of giving employment to needy labor have been studying how to lend money at high rates of interest, or to put it into buildings for which high rents might be exacted, making for such buildings contracts in advance that would yield from 15 to 20 per cent. per annum, for long periods. Since there has been little public spirit in Portland or throughout the country, since so little has been set on foot looking to the development of productive industry, working people have been given no chance. Chinese have been largely employed in the rude and primitive occupations that have offered, and the working class of whites, particularly in hard times, have scarcely known which way to turn. In these circumstances the unscrupulous adventurer and demagogue always finds his opportunity. He turns "agitator," sometimes with great effect. In the present case the Chinese are the object of direct attack, though in fact the presence of the Chinese is only an incident of a general situation, of which the main features and chief component parts are presented in the utter neglect of industrial enterprise by the capital of the country.

Though there are many vagabonds and worthless fellows among us who would not work if they could, there are many worthy people in real need who desire employment yet are unable to get it. It is useless to overlook this fact, or to try to disguise it. Yet workingmen should always bear in mind that peace and order are the first indispensable conditions of employment of capital in industry and business. Moreover, force and violence, in defiance of law, will surely be met by the iron hand of power. To attempt to expel the Chinese of Portland by force would be mere madness. Such a number can only go by gradual departure. Any effort to hasten them, by violent action, will only bring to Portland the military forces of the United States, to keep the peace and give the Chinese protection. As THE OREGONIAN has so often said, the Chinese, when they can no longer find work, will rapidly take their leave. Large numbers of them are idle now, and these numbers will increase as fast as white persons are found to take their places. This substitution has been going on rapidly during a year past. It is the legitimate solution of what is called the Chinese question. There is no remedy worthy of a civilized people in outrage, violence or inhumanity. The Chinese came here in pursuance of treaty, and while here they are entitled to all the protection of the laws.

OUTRAGE AT SEATTLE

Yesterday a proceeding at Seattle against the Chinese cannot be called a proud achievement. It was, indeed, a gross and extreme outrage. Our telegraphic report gives an account of the proceeding, with a statement of the situation up to a late hour.

The outrage seems to have been secretly concerted and carried on mainly by persons from other localities. Seattle's committee of safety, which was organized some time ago, appears to have dissolved. At least it was not on duty. Taking advantage of the quiet of Sunday morning, the mob forced the Chinese of the town, to the number of several hundred, down to the dock, but only got about one hundred of them on board the steamer. The remainder, at a late hour, were still huddled up on the dock, afraid to return to their quarters, though the mob had mainly dispersed. The steamer was enjoined from sailing with those who had been put on board.

It is impossible to characterize such a lawless and outrageous proceeding in terms too severe, and it is a reproach to any community that such an act should be perpetrated in it. The usual call has been made for troops, and no doubt some companies will be sent over at once. Under military protection, the Chinese will probably return to their houses, but fear of further outrage, will be likely to cause them to take their departure as soon as they can.

A POLITICAL MISTAKE

Mr. Blaine is quoted as having said recently that the republicans of the senate were committing a great political mistake in raising a controversy with the president about appointments to office. It was apparent, he is said to have remarked, that such action on the part of the republican senate would unite and consolidate the democratic party of the country in support of the administration. Mr. Blaine is a keen politician, and can judge well as to motives and measures which have a bearing on party action. But in fact it requires no great sagacity to know that the statement attributed to him is a sound one.

The country sees the situation and understands it. If the republicans of the senate have been merely seeking an advantage for political or party ends, they have obtained already all the advantage they are likely to get, for they have placed the administration on record as refusing to give the reasons for removals which the president said should not be made for partisan objects, or for any other except the good of the public service. It is well understood, and nobody doubts, that a great many removals have been made solely for the purpose of putting democrats into office; and beyond doubt many more will yet be made for the same reason. All this the country understands well enough. It is useless to be "badgering the president for "reasons," when the reasons are already apparent. The right thing now for the senate to do is to confirm the nominations, after proper inquiry into the character and fitness of each.

Suppose the position of parties were reversed. Suppose the republicans, after having been excluded from office during twenty five years, had at last elected the president, and that the senate were still democratic. Would there not be a great deal of bitterness in the republican heart if the senate should obstruct the way to appointment of republicans to at least a fair share of the offices? President Cleveland has not, indeed, lived up to the close letter of his promises in behalf of civil service reform, but he has disappointed both parties by having done as much as he has done in that behalf.

OUR COAST DEFENSES

An idea has for sometime been prevalent that our coast defenses are in such a state of chronic dilapidation that they not only constitute no defense worth speaking of but are in their very feebleness a menace. True, we still have what is called by courtesy "forts," and these bristle, more or less, with harmless ordnance that gives them a mildly war-like appearance, but in the just estimation of our best military men these guns would play a very feeble game if compelled, by necessity, to oppose the passage of a British man-of-war or answer one of its terrific broad-sides at long range. Having indulged in this somewhat melancholy view of the exposed condition of our harbors in case of sudden trouble with a nation that owns and operates a navy, the country was a short time since comforted by the assertion of Gen. Forney, chairman of the house sub committee on fortifications, to the effect that our danger, from lack of coast defense, is greatly exaggerated. He is reported as having said that "shelling does not amount to anything," citing, in proof of this reassuring assertion, that after the city of Vera Cruz had been shelled for three days and finally capitulated, the United States troops found upon entering that their shells had done no damage. This testimony relative to the perfect harmlessness of shells is not corroborated by the record of the havoc played by British shells at Alexandria a few years ago, nor by sundry well authenticated accounts of the part played by these missiles during our civil war. However, members of congressional committees from the vast interior—Gen. Forney is from central Georgia—are supposed to know what they are talking about, and to confront them with history is impertinent. They stand before the country rich in the experience gained from active duty in the confederate armies, or possessed of the importance of the way things were done when they, in their early youth, accompanied the United States forces into Mexico. Yet, somehow, the assurance that our coast defenses are ample, that hostile fleets cannot get up our rivers and into our harbors, does not carry a weight equal to that of the contrary judgment of our best military men. An article in Harper's Magazine for February, detailing the strength of the British navy, and furnishing illustrations of some of the mighty monsters that compose it, suggests some of the possibilities that would menace our seaboard, not to speak of our commerce in case of a sudden war with a maritime power so mighty. Undue security is scarcely less reprehensible than needless alarm. Gen. Forney concedes that we want guns, and that to be effective they must be properly mounted, but it is not necessary to belong to that valorous fighting brigade, the congressional military committee to understand that the most formidable gun, if exposed to the fire of a modern war vessel would, in a brief space, become of as little value, as a means of defense, as a common saw log. The batteries at the mouth of the Columbia are said to be typical in a small way, of the defenses of many of our important ports, and it would have been an act of unwarrantable boldness for these at any time in the past ten years to have disputed the passage of a fishing smack, armed with a howitzer.

THE "FARMER'S PROTECTIVE"

A branch of an association known as the "Farmer's Protective" has been organized in Eastern Washington, and a local paper of that region urges all farmers to join it. Whether it is a revival of the spark left in the ashes of many defunct granges, or whether it starts out on a new plan of work as well as under a new name, we are not advised. We note the sound of familiar words, however, in the declaration that in "unity there is strength," that "great good can be accomplished by organizations through legislation," and much more in the same strain. The whole recalls the time, some ten or fifteen years ago, when the Granger element was "proudly" said to be the controlling power in our state politics, and when farmers and their wives and sons and daughters and man servants and maid servants, conspicuous in the simple uniform of the order, made a chief feature on public parade days. When the term "middle man" was a reproach and Grangers' feasts and Grangers' resolutions and Grangers generally occupied a prominent place in public affairs. The Grange doubtless had its mission. If, however, that mission was to protect the interests of the agricultural class from the machinations, real or supposed, of the "middle man," promote prosperity among the farmers of Oregon (we speak of the grange merely as it existed in this state), and transfer the products of agriculture directly from the hand of the producer to that of the consumer, it does not seem to have been successful. As a social organization, bringing the families of the same community and of different communities into pleasant communication as friends and neighbors, interesting each in the work of the other, furnishing toiling women opportunities for relaxation and recreation, and giving all who attended the meetings an insight into business forms, and lessons in courtesy and politeness, the Grange may be said to have recorded its greatest success. These features of the organization live still in many communities to the pleasure and social profit of its members. It cannot be denied that in its contest with wheat rings, transportation rates and middlemen's profits, the Grange did not record a triumph. Like all other organizations designed for the benefit of a class, it had its false prophets, and traitors within its gates were not wanting.

The motto "In union there is strength," in so far as it lulls the vigilance that should attend individual effort in any vocation is liable to mislead. The lesson that Oregon farmers especially should learn is that in individual attention to their own affairs, in having something to sell every day in the year and seeing that that something is put on the market fresh and in good shape lies the true source of prosperity. No organization can supply the lack of self helpful endeavor, and in this simple "Farmer's Protective" lies all that there is of success.

The glovemakers' strike in Gloversville and Johnstown, N. Y., is causing great distress, as the entire population of the region, numbering about 15,000 persons, is dependent upon the glove industry carried on there for a livelihood. The Knights of Labor have a strong organization there, and under the auspices of the order a schedule of prices was drawn up in advance for 1886 and presented to manufacturers. The latter refused to recognize the right of the Knights of Labor to dictate to them as to the rates that their employes should receive, and a strike, involving the interests of the entire community, resulted. The case seems to be one of many, wherein labor is injured by the ill-timed zeal and unnecessary dictation of its friends.

The prohibition battle is being waged in the interior between the radicals, who want a party of their own in which to train and make speeches and vote, and the conservatives, who ask, "Why not be content with men nominated by either of the old parties, who are known to favor prohibition?" Local papers in different localities give a large amount of their space to the various forms in which the question is put and to the combined wrath and enthusiasm of the replies. As yet nothing new to logic or literature has been developed by this controversy.

In the account given yesterday of the annual meeting of the Portland Library association the books that should have been classified under the head of "Travels" were presented under the title of "Novels." This correction is necessary, in order that it may appear that the library is not running so much to fiction as the printed report would indicate.

When the commercial interests of a city are menaced by ice for some months of every year, vigorous and successful measures are taken to keep river channels open. Philadelphia maintains a winter navy of three ice boats and eighty men, to keep the channel of the Delaware open to navigation.

PRESIDENT AND SENATE

A Statement of the Attitude of the Republicans Regarding Suspensions.

Washington Special Feb 1, to Chicago Inter Ocean.

The republican senators are not making war upon the president. They are defending the citizen. The president has in both official and unofficial manner announced that no officer who holds for a definite period shall be removed during his term except for cause. His partisans all over the country, as well as those opposed to him, have been induced to believe that he was sincere in his declarations in this respect. Hence every officer suspended by the government concludes that charges have been made against him. In a large proportion of cases this has been done. It is natural that each suspended officer should desire to know the nature of the charges lodged against him. It is but just that he should be informed in this respect and given an opportunity to answer them and especially is this so when the charges affect his personal or official integrity. Therefore the requests to be informed. He writes to the president or to the head of the proper department for information. He gets none. He writes to his representative or to the senators from his state. They ask for the charges and get none. The senate calls for the papers and the department refuses to furnish them. The senate may determine to insist and the president may refuse to comply. If this should be done by the senate it will be for the benefit of the citizen who has been covertly attacked with charges placed on the files of the department and which may in the future come to light to his hurt, he having been denied an opportunity to refute them. Freehanded justice revolts at this. Old fashioned Anglo-Saxon fair play stamps its condemnation on this disreputable partisan assault on private character, and so the contest so far as the senate may be concerned, is for justice and fair play for the citizen be he high or be he low.

PERSONS AND THINGS.

President Cleveland is said to receive fifty daily newspapers.

Each congressman gets this year 6,000 packages of vegetable seeds besides 500 packages of flower seeds. Send in your orders.

In Lyon county, Nevada, they claim to have found fish covered with hair instead of scales. There is something suggestive in the name of that county.

Professor Asa Gray, of Harvard, has sent an autograph letter of thanks to each of the 180 botanists who contributed to the memorial vase presented to him on his seventy fifth birthday.

Thomas Kay urges that bottles containing citrate of silver be stowed away in life boats. Seven ounces of the citrate will turn enough sea water into drinking water to supply a man for a week.

The Australian papers point with pride to the fact that the population in that country doubles itself every twenty years, while that of the United States only doubles itself every twenty six years.

The ladder which Gladstone is climbing stands nearly perpendicular. It will take nice balancing to reach the top round and stay there. If he does it will be the culmination of his grand career.

The New York World speaks as one having authority when it says: "Just as Lord Salisbury was reaching for the jam on the top shelf the chair turned over." That thing has happened before to-day.

The largest dog in the country is said to be a St. Bernard owned at Glen Cove, L. I. He measures seven feet eleven inches from the end of his nose to the tip of his tail, stands twenty five inches high and weighs 170 pounds.

Archdeacon Farrar is telling English audiences that during his long journey through the United States he saw less drunkenness than in a single walk in London. He thinks America is far ahead of England in temperance work.

Joaquin Miller can hardly be blamed for rising to make a few remarks in frontier style when, on finally responding to his daughter's appeal to aid he discovered that he was also expected to relieve the necessities of a newly made but impecunious husband.

Geneva is thinking of getting up an international exhibition in 1887, one of the chief features of which is to be a complete exhibit of the chemical and pharmaceutical industries. A committee has been appointed, consisting mainly of German apothecaries established in Switzerland.

In the late great snowstorm in London telegraph wires were knocked down till they strewed the streets as if the thoroughfares were covered with cobwebs. The postal telegraph service escaped with next to no damage from the simple fact that full 80 per cent of its wires are laid underground.

The United States supreme court has a bible which has been in constant use since 1808. It was printed at Oxford in 1799. On the fly leaf is written "United States Supreme Court 1808." And every justice of the court and every attorney who has been admitted to practice before the bar since that date has been sworn upon that bible.

"Mildred," said the high school girl's mother, "hand me my cookery book. They are making a kind of preserve up the Kennebec river that I never heard of before and I want to see if it is in." "What kind of preserve is it, mamma?" "They call it an ice jam and I'd just like to know how it's made, because ice is cheaper now than in the summer."—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Don't Know Beans.

Washington Star.

Judge Folger, while secretary of the treasury, decided that beans were garden seeds and subject to a duty of 20 per cent. Solicitor McCue recently decided them to be a vegetable and assessed duty thereon at 10 per cent, and now a New York judge gives it as the court's opinion that they are fruits, and therefore may be imported free. Our great legal lights may be very learned in some matters, but it is evident they don't know beans.

BRIEF MENTION
Laz Ackerman has taken the road for M. L... & Co. of this city.
The Alice Harrison company will arrive here from Salem this morning and will open at the New Market to-night.
The Arlington hotel at Seattle has been closed by the sheriff and the furniture is advertised for sale on the 11th inst.
We are authorized to say that the article published in the Welcome concerning Mr. A. ... is false in every particular.
The tardy remainder of the eastern Washington delegation in the last legislature passed through the city homeward bound yesterday.
The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance union will take place this afternoon at 2:30 at the W. C. T. U. hall, on First street near Columbia.
Several new strikes are reported in the Colville country, says the Spokane Chronicle, prominent among which is the Sunset, owned by Benoist, Moore and several others in this city. The indications for a first class camp full of life and vigor are constantly brightening, and the outlook for the coming season is encouraging.

The room occupied by a Chinaman at the rear of the Cully building was broken into the other evening and robbed of some clothing, a pistol and other articles to the value of about $40. No clue.
Scarcely a night passes but the police are appealed to for lodgings by men in need. As the city jail is not in great demand for law breakers the ... are generally accommodated. Three applicants were accommodated last night.
Of the seventeen saloons heretofore in East Portland four closed when the new law went into effect. With the increased license, the remaining thirteen will give the city an annual revenue of $1,300—$500 more than the former number under the old law.
A stranger whose conversation left no doubt of his insanity, was found roaming about Holladay's addition Saturday morning. He gave his name as Thomas C. Sanders and claimed to be a government detective. Marshal McMillan took him before the proper authorities, who committed him after a brief examination. Marshal McMillan will take him up to Salem to-day.

PERSONAL.
Hon. D. P. Thompson left yesterday for Eastern Washington to be gone about two weeks.
Mr. H. D. Sanborn left yesterday for the Colville mines and will remain there a month or more.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A SWINDLING BROTHER.—Last Friday afternoon as the Atlantic express was about to pull out of the East Portland station a middle-aged German rushed aboard. He was blowing like a porpoise and drops of sweat as large as hazelnuts stood on his brow. Hurrying through the train he stopped when he reached the man for whom he was evidently searching and a most exciting dialogue took place between them—all in German and the fellow passengers could not catch the drift of it. They could tell that the man who rushed in was angry and indignant and that the other had been guilty of some unmanly conduct. The train pulled out, the excited man jumped off and that is the last the people on the train heard of the affair. Subsequent inquiry by an OREGONIAN reporter who heard of the incident elicited the information that a German who keeps a saloon at the Red House sent to Germany a few months since for his brother saying the chances here for getting ahead in the world were far better than in the old country. The brother had a few thousand dollars which the saloon keeper induced him to invest in a farm near the Red House. He could not speak English and knew nothing of American ways and laws, and at the saloon keeper's suggestion he had the deed made out to the saloon keeper. Subsequently the latter mortgaged the farm and last week sold it, subject to the mortgage for $800. Then deserting his wife and seven children the saloon keeper skipped out. The brother learning of these intentions applied to a law firm here for advice and was informed that the saloon keeper had a legal right to sell the property and could not be held under a criminal charge. He might begin a civil suit to recover the money but would have to give bonds, etc., and the process would be slow. The lawyers advised him to go to the train (it lacked an hour or two of departure time) threaten to beat the life out of him, make him disgorge and then remain home and take care of his family. If the poor, deluded German only had Jack Dempsey's pugilistic powers, the chances are that the saloon keeper would be eating humble pie at the Red House to-day.

THREE FIGHTERS ON A TEAR.—About half past 4 yesterday morning Jack Keenan, a light weight slugger who came up from San Francisco with Jack Dempsey, and now keeps a low dive in Couch precinct, was arrested at the corner of First and Oak streets by policemen Morgan and Young. He was "bi er" drunk, and had been in this condition since midnight, and was making Rome howl. His partner Larry Sullivan who was whipped by Ward, attempted to rescue Keenan from the police, but lacked the necessary strength and was himself run in and booked for interfering with an officer. About the same time Jim Reilly, whom Dave Campbell whipped, was run in by policeman Hardkeroad for being drunk and disorderly, all three were locked up for the night. Late yesterday afternoon Keenan got out by putting up $10 bail and Sullivan by twice the amount. Reilly is still there. While Keenan was undergoing the customary search at the station he tried hard to get hold of a heavy glass tumbler which he had in his coat pocket and Capt. Henline had to choke the whim out of him before he became tractable. Keenan, if you stay here, you've got to behave yourself. You ought to know from the way your whisky affects your customers that you'll never stick to drink it. And Sullivan you would better walk straight. The experience of a broken head that you received shortly after your arrival here ought to have taught you to attend to your own business and keep a civil tongue in your head.

SCENE IN A STREET CAR.—A very richly and ultra fashionably dressed lady enters a Third street car and takes a seat by a plainly dressed lady, a member of her church, who nevertheless enjoys an evening at the theater, a rubber at whist or a game at progressive euchre, but who eschews extravagance in dress and contributes liberally to all local charities and to the support of her church. First lady after passing the usual compliments:

Oh! dear sister I'm so sorry that you did not go to hear Brother M—— last night. He preached such a delightful discourse against the wickedness of theater going and card playing. He said that progressive euchre is the devil's own game. Second lady.—It must have been very interesting, but I thought I would wait till he preached on the wickedness and vanity of extravagance in dress and jewelry. I suppose you will attend on that occasion. The first lady having reached her street alighted without replying, and a minister sitting in a corner remarked to a friend: "She is end right as to progressive euchre, I got the booby prize three nights running this week."

SLIGHT FIRE.—About 10 o'clock last evening special policeman Mott discovered a fire blazing under the corner of the house at the north east corner of Third and Yamhill streets. He turned in an alarm and the department were soon on hand. The fire proved to be a very trifling affair but very difficult to get at. There is a low cellar under the rear of the building, and the brick wall on the west side of this had to be torn down before a man could crawl under the front of the house to where the fire was and to put it out. All trace of it had been washed away by a fast flowing stream. The corner of the house has been vacant for about a month and it seems probable that the fire was caused by a cigar being dropped down between the sidewalk and the house. The trap doors in the sidewalk were opened to let the firemen into the cellar and a young man and woman walked into the cellar. The young man fell to the bottom and the young woman caught upon the farther side. Fortunately neither was hurt. The damage by fire amounts to nothing.

LAND LEAGUE.—A large meeting of the Portland Land league was held in their hall yesterday afternoon, Mr Thomas Kearney in the chair. After the usual order of business short speeches were made in praise of Mr Parnell and the grand efforts he is making to restore to Ireland her home government in spite of the blind hatred of English and Irish tories. One member spoke severely of one Arnold Foster, who claims to be an American. He said this man Arnold Foster calls the English Jury must crush the Irish love of liberty with fire and sword the way the traitor Arnold of old tried to stamp out American liberty after his treachery to Washington. But said the speaker the American people will be found at all times to stand on the side of liberty and justice so they heartily endorse Parnell in his efforts to gain for Ireland what Washington gained for America.

INTERESTING MEDICAL CASE.—There is a case in the Good Samaritan hospital which the staff of physicians are watching with considerable interest. It is a case of dry gangrene. The patient is James Benson, a teamster of this city. He was brought to the hospital two weeks ago. The first signs of the disease being black spots on the ends of two toes on the left foot. The trouble has now involved all the toes up to where they join the foot and two black spots have appeared on the foot itself. Three toes on the right foot have also become involved. The gangrene is the result of diseased arteries—that is to say, they have not enough force to drive the blood to the extremities.

NEWCASTLE MINES SHUT DOWN.—Owing to the extremely low price of coal in San Francisco and the differences between the coal miners and the mine owners which apparently cannot be adjusted, orders were received by Mr Milner Street yesterday to shut the Newcastle or Coal creek mines down immediately. This is a very unpleasant piece of news to record, says the Post Intelligencer, but nothing more than could be expected by those who have kept posted as to the condition of affairs at Newcastle. The closing down of these mines will throw hundreds of men out of employment in the county and tend to make times harder and money scarcer.

TO GIVE BONDS OR STEP OUT.—County Judge Moreland yesterday made an order requiring J. McL. Harvey, executor of the will of Mrs. Lucia Harvey, to give bonds in the sum of $ ...00 within one week or be removed from such trust. It will be provided that the executor is not required to give bonds. Some time since Mrs. Mary A. Hardy applied to the county court to have Mr. Harvey removed as executor, giving as her reasons for such petition that he was using the funds of the estate in his own private business and that he failed to render proper accounts to the court of the condition of the estate, etc.

MISSIONARY CONVOCATION.—Bishop Morris has called a convocation of the Episcopal clergy east of the Cascades to meet in La Grande on the 9th and 10th of February, in Baker City from the 11th to the 14th and at the Cove on the 17th and 18th. The clergy to be in attendance besides the bishop are the Rev. Wm. J. McKwain from The Dalles, L. G. Johnson from Weston, W. L. Ferguson from the Cove, W. H. Stevens from La Grande. The ... Baker City and ... from the Cove.

RUNAWAY.—While a car of the Third street railway line was about to start from the south end of the road yesterday, in some way the singletree became detached from the car and striking against the horse's hoofs caused him to run away. He ran clear down to Washington street, the iron singletree striking against his legs at every bound and inflicting wounds which increased the frenzy of the terrified brute. When caught he was hardly able to stand and it is feared that he is ruined.

IN A DANGEROUS CONDITION.—The man Murphy who was stabbed in a drunken quarrel in his cabin by a fellow workman named McDonald on Saturday night the ... is in a dangerous condition at the Good Samaritan Hospital. His left arm which received a cut to the bone is swollen close to the artery, ... was tied. His condition Saturday was regarded as critical but yesterday he was slightly better. He is in danger still of losing his arm and possibly his life.

DEATH OF A CHILD.—A three year old daughter of Jasper O'Hara, a resident of Pendleton, died about 10 o'clock yesterday morning at the residence of a friend of the family, corner of Eleventh and Market streets in this city. The child was brought here for medical treatment for a large tumor in the abdomen. An operation was performed but the little one had not strength enough to recover from the shock. The remains were taken to Pendleton by yesterday afternoon's train.

CHIEF MOSES AND HIS TRIBE.—Special Indian Agent C. B. Dickson, who has had charge of the execution of the arrangements for placing Moses and his Indians on the Colville reservation and the opening of the Columbia river reservation, departed Saturday for Washington. The location of a number of Indians on lands in severalty, says the Spokane Chronicle, has delayed the formal opening of the latter reservation.

LARGE REPRESENTATION.—George Pohen and Newton Nelson, both insane, of Clatsop county, were brought up on Saturday by D. H. Welch and J. I. Wilson. They will be taken to the insane asylum to-day. Sheriff Ross will bring up to-day on the Telephone three prisoners for the penitentiary. This will make a total of seven from Clatsop county as candidates for the penitentiary for this term.

A HIGH-TONED DEAD BEAT

A Pretended English Lord Victimizes Some Confiding Countrymen in this State.

There arrived in this city overland from California about two weeks since and registered at the Holton house a tall, fine looking Englishman, who stated in confidence to a gentleman whom he met in Southern Oregon that he was a peer traveling incog and on the strength of this and other lies representations borrowed several hundred dollars. He had the education and manners of a thorough gentleman, was a good linguist and had doubtless at one time belonged to the British army as he knew military men both in London and in South Africa and also was acquainted with the friends in England of gentlemen residing here. He spent his (borrowed) money freely while here and entertained some of his friends in a manner and at an expense quite in keeping with the noble character he assumed.

He pretended to be here on a matter of business regarding the purchase of some machinery which he intended to take to South Africa. He received or pretended to receive cablegrams in regard to money deposited to his credit, and inquired as to the best method of transferring money from San Francisco to this city, but when the subject of his being identified at the bank was mentioned, he said no more about the matter. He remained here till the 29th of January when he took the Kalama train and some of his friends' money, and left ostensibly for Columbia City. It is probable that he has gone to Victoria where he will doubtless ere this have victimized some brother Englishman. He is 6 feet and half an inch in height, broad shouldered, broad hips, aged about 38 years, and weighing 190 pounds, short light brown mutton chop whiskers and slight mustache and short brown eyes. He wore a dark cloth jacket and over it a vest, a blue jersey. There can be no doubt but that he has received the breeding and education of a gentleman, and has moved in good society, but he has fallen from grace and is now a thorough swindler. The aliases by which he designated himself were legion, as none of them are given. He stated that he had been robbed in Stockton, Cal., by a man named Pratt, from which some are led to believe that he was the perpetrator of the forgery in Calvin ... lately brought back from Japan. News of his ... his game is ... being here is desired by several gentlemen upon whom he imposed.

ALICE HARRISON TO NIGHT

This evening the Alice Harrison company will open in a new musical comedy by Edward Holst and Wolfson Morse, entitled "Hot Water." Below is a complete cast of characters and a synopsis of musical introductions. The cast is the same as given in San Francisco and no change will be made in Portland. All reports to the contrary notwithstanding. All theater goers know Miss Harrison's reputation and the cast of characters will speak for the company supporting her. They are among the best-known people of the profession.

CHARACTERS

James McDoodles Jr., only son of his Dad, by his first wife, part of the family trouble, some however a collegian by education a lover by accident, an author on account of his sweetheart, but would be pugilist from taste. Forces his loving parents to take more Hot Water than they would from choice. Mr Charles S. Dickson

Hercules Heavy Weight, a man of pugilistic principles, a trainer and turner of magnanimous beasts. Does the fun with Hot Water but in the end is forced to take water (hot) himself. Mr Frank Girard

Col. McDoodles, retired officer, a tragedian of the first water, most generally Hot Water with a stick in it. Mr Frank David

James McDoodles, a wealthy American broker, sojourning at Paris with his family in and out of Hot Water ad lib. Mr Chas W Allison

Jane Ann O'Holloran, a bosom friend to the babies or as some would say a wet nurse, adapts herself to circumstances, Hot Water included. Mr Chas McCarthy

Professor Meekful, of a retiring turn of mind, whose duties become (or should be) the guidance of James Jr., in the ways that are good and the trials that are not dangerous or in other words, to teach James to become a real boy. Meekful is willing but alas fate is against him—he gets more Hot Water than he deserves. Mr George Lyle

Brick Amble, a useful boy, whose duties are to attend to the wants of all and help to keep a supply of Hot Water on hand. Mr Fred Mathews

Waiter at Cafe Odeon whose business is to serve Hot Water with or without a stick in it. Mr L. Knobb

Miss Amelia Helpall, a tenant of Col. McDoodles, keeper of a most reputable intelligence bureau, really the first who started this Hot Water craze—unconsciously she did it, but nevertheless she puts the water in its vicinity in motion. Miss Jennie Reiffarth

Mrs James McDoodles, his second wife, ever opens letters and thereby opens the way to having to take more Hot Water than she would otherwise. Miss Alla Merton

Mrs Col. McDoodles, his wife, prim chilly and jealous, never out of Hot Water. Miss Helen Sedgwick

Mamselle Marie Bonjour, a French soubrette and mesmerist, well up in English, thinks well of James Jr., but never misses a chance to work upon the hearts of all men, married or single. She keeps Hot Water at boiling point. Alice Harrison

SIGNS OF SPRING

Spring is coming, and for the past ten days it almost seemed as if the rustle of her robes could be heard among the branches of the lilac bushes the buds of which are swelling and showing signs of expanding into leaves. Last evening however she seemed to have retreated before the wind and heavy rain. However, she has left signs of her visit as in the gardens around town crocus, snowdrops, daisies, violets and pansies are blooming and daffodils, tulips and other early flowers are making vigorous growth.

The grocery stores display pots of violets, cinerarias, and calla lilies in bloom for sale, and the sight of all these is enough to make one hurrah for the flowers of spring. The season is forward in the Inland Empire, as the Spokane Falls Review says. Will Maxwell yesterday wore in his button hole a buttercup that he had picked from among the rocks on the north side of the river. A few more days of sunshine and the flowers of spring will cover the hillsides. The Weston Leader says: The lilacs are budding in our flower gardens and daisies and pansies are in bloom. The robin red breast has put in his appearance, the meadow lark sends forth upon the morning air his matin notes and everything betokens the approach of spring.

PORT MOODY MATTERS

PORT MOODY, B. C., Feb. 1.—This year is expected to inaugurate a new era in British Columbia mining matters. As soon as the weather becomes settled there will be a big influx into the rich new Granite creek district. Big things are expected of this district, including Granite creek and several tributaries, but as usual there will probably be more men in there this season than there should be. In the Nicola country John Morrison, recently of Port Moody, has secured several rich claims, and organized a company to work them. Samples of the ore were sent to Denver, San Francisco and to two parties in Butte City, and assayed from $600 to $ 60 per ton and some of it $2.00. This is the first strike in that country. Two Colville parties (one of whom is interested in a mine at Colville, the Young America, I believe) have purchased a claim in the Big Bend country that is said to assay $3000 per ton. They bought it for about $1,000 as the original locator did not know its value. A party has gone to prospect a quartz ledge a few miles from Port Moody that was located several years ago. British Columbia is undoubtedly very rich in mineral, and as no quartz mining has yet been done here, the future of that industry is undoubtedly bright. The opening of the Canadian Pacific will be a great factor in developing industry in British Columbia.

No train has gone above Yale for about ten days owing to heavy snow and slides. It is not known when the tracks will be cleared and communication with the up country east of Yale, established.

There are four boats a week between Port Moody and Victoria now.

Port Moody will petition parliament for better jail and court house accommodations.

The mills have started up again since the last ... of the ... weather.

OLYMPIA NOTES

OLYMPIA, Feb. 5.

To the regret and deeply felt mortification of the people of this city some drunken hoodlums last evening suspended a figure on one of the posts of the arch on Main street and labeled it with the name of Judge Lewis, of King county. The people of this city were very much excited over the affair and if they could have found who did it swift punishment would have followed. Judge Lewis was very active in rushing the legal option through the legislature and it is thought that was one of the reasons for the insult.

ACCIDENT

An unnamed Chinaman employed on the O. & C. V. R. R., while running a handcar yesterday collided with an empty car on the line, and had his face terribly smashed. Dr. Reilly, who was called on to attend the man, pronounced it a serious case.

THE STAGE.

THE CASINO.—So great has been the success of "Iolanthe" that the management have determined to keep it on for another week. Last night at the sixth performance the attendance was greater than at the opening night and tested the seating capacity of the house.

THE NEW MARKET.—To-night Miss Alice Harrison in the musical comedy "Hot Water."

TRIM YOUR SHADE TREES.—The superintendent of streets advertises elsewhere that he will enforce the ordinance requiring all shade trees on streets to be trimmed to a hight of nine feet above the sidewalk on or before the 1st of March. Now is the accepted time to trim your trees, so get out your ladders, saws and pruning hooks and get the trees in rights before the 1st and save trouble.

PROHIBITION IN IOWA.

TILLAMOOK, Feb. 2.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I notice that the liquor traffic discussion in your columns has been transferred from Maine to Iowa and with yourself and truth seeking readers I have sought in the line of duty to follow it up. It is a fact that in many of the cities and larger towns of that state the prohibitory law is not enforced. Maine struggled a much longer time to bring about a general obedience, but by the penal and educational force of the law that high attainment in political economy has long since been reached.

By far the greater part of Iowa is beyond a doubt under strict prohibition, but it really seems that with the great lights of Maine and Kansas to mirror upon the prohibition path even greater good might have been accomplished in two years and I propose to canvass the grounds briefly, and seek out the causes of the too tardy progress.

Prohibition in Iowa was a republican measure. The republican bosses put the plank in their platform as a compromise with the prohibitionists who otherwise would have run a ticket and drawn off votes enough to throw the election democratic. The prohibitionist part of the "compromise" was simply to come servilely under the republican yoke as compensation for the promise in the plank. The republican bosses, mind you, were still to boss the job. The campaign was fought, and by the loss of a few too-often put prohibitionists and a few we'll run the whole thing liquorites, the republican ticket won by a somewhat reduced majority. What next. The prohibitory law was enacted according to agreement. What next. Why this is all the bargain," said the bosses, "we were to give you a prohibitory law for your votes—there is your law, take it and go your way. We claim no interest in it—don't want it, its your law!" Just there the too trustful prohibitionists discovered that the professional bosses had been too sharp for them, as in North Carolina and Ohio, and now holding the fort in all the offices—sheriffs, courts, mayors, common councils, marshals and police, they say to the soliciting prohibitionists, "Go and enforce your prohibitory law." Those bosses, like most bosses of both factions, so the great liquor party everywhere, want no such law. They want the whisky to control the votes with—have always had it and intend to have it. In quite a number of the cities and towns of the state they have deliberately licensed the traffic in utter contempt of law and in many others, holding all the offices they flatly refuse, in the face of the plainest law defining their duties in the matter to lift a finger against the traffic, and then raise the cry that "The prohibitionists' law is a failure," and are now pleading that failure (dim pleringly with one corner of the mouth and defiantly with the other) to induce the prohibitionists to consent to the repeal of the law. These are strong charges and if they had come from a prohibition source I should feel like cutting off a little for over zeal, but coming as they do from a prominent republican of Iowa—Mr. I. M. Sutton, a state senator—it seems difficult to find a reasonable ground of doubt.

Mr. Sutton addressed letters of inquiry to leading republicans (his own statement) in every town and city in the state having as many as 800 inhabitants, asking information as to the enforcement of the law, and the answers greatly abridged, with other information and argument, cover just one page of the Chicago Tribune (same size as THE OREGONIAN's page). Almost every officer in Iowa owes his election to prohibition votes. The laws are very plain as to their duties toward violators of law. They ignore all obligation, stand square in the way and howl "failure!" The law for city marshals is to apprehend any person in the act of committing any offense against the laws of the state and forthwith bring such person before the mayor. Not one such apprehension of a saloon keeper is mentioned in all this vast pile of letters from leading republicans. It is to be presumed that these officers of the law have no time to arrest offenders, so busy are they in crying "failure."

The following report from Waterloo and Mr. Sutton's remarks upon it will show that he is a republican and not an earnest prohibitionist, as THE OREGONIAN was informed: "We have sixteen saloons. Any one can get a drink who is known not to get drunk. * * * Our saloons pay a tax of $25 per month. Mr Stewart was driven out of the place because of his efforts to enforce the law. We had twenty saloons two years ago. Our condition is much improved. Less drunkenness, less loafing, less carousing." F. I. Siberling. Sutton—"Mr. Siberling says in a second letter that arrests for drunkenness have been in 1883 157, in 1884 84, in 1885 20." A long letter from the Hon. Matt Owens explains what has brought about the delightful condition of things described by Mr Siberling. Col. Owens says that a regular system of saloon license was adopted in 1885 at a full meeting of the council, and by a unanimous vote, he being a member. He sends me a copy of the ordinance. It directly licenses saloons and is now enforced by the city council, every member of which is a republican. Mr. Siberling is president of the school board and a prohibitionist. But he sings the praises of well regulated republican license. That has not the ring of an earnest prohibitionist, and yet he is evidently doing a grand work for the party. May Opening the eyes of the blind that they may see their way into the prohibition ranks. T. J. ALLEY.

CENSUS OF NEBRASKA

The March of Progress Fully Exemplified in Superintendent Lane's Report

LINCOLN, Feb. 7.—Superintendent Lane of the state census bureau finished his tabulation to-day. The increase in population in five years from 1880 to 1885 is 28.11 or more than 50 per cent. The number of residences increased 50 per cent, exactly in accord with the increase in families. The number of farms increased 58 per cent, and the average size from 87 acres to 101. The acreage under cultivation just doubled. The value of farms has grown from $105,000,000 to $78,000,000, and horses, mules and milk cows have doubled. Swine are not quite doubled in numbers but other stock are more. The value of live stock increased from $ ...0,000 to $8 000 000. Wheat shows no increase but other grains have increased from 200 to 500 per cent. The corn crop in 1880 was 6,000,000 bushels, last year it was 1 000 000 bushels. Manufactured products have increased from $12,000,000 to $48,000,000. In all material points the growth in wealth and facilities has outrun the increase in population. The net cost of the census to the state is less than $7000.

Sherman and Shiloh.

New York World

In the last number of the North American Review Gen. Beauregard completes his article on the Shiloh campaign. He insists that the federal army was taken completely by surprise on the morning of the 6th of April. His reason for thinking so is briefly given. When he first encamped units were taken, many federal officers and soldiers were yet lying in bed. Bread was being baked and was taken hot from the ovens by our men. This will raise the bristles on Gen. Sherman again. He will vigorously deny the story about the recumbent men in the tents and will swear that the bread was left in the ovens in order to insure the Confederates a warm reception—in accordance with the rules of genuine western hospitality. There is no testimony of a human character to be adduced that can convince Sherman that he was surprised at Shiloh. In fact he knew that he was going to be attacked, but he forgot to mention the matter to his troops. That's all.

TALK ABOUT BLAINE

His Book—Chances for the Presidency in 1888

Wm. Walter Phelps to a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune.

I have tried in vain to induce Mr. Blaine to visit Washington this winter and complete the sittings for his portrait, said Mr Phelps. "I want the picture for my New Jersey home. Mr Blaine, however, is too busy revising the proof of his book. The last chapter of the second volume was completed a few days ago. Mr Blaine found greater difficulty in preparing the last volume, because it deals with events of recent date, and these being so vivid in his memory it was hard for him to keep within his intended space. A good portion of the last volume was written by Mr Blaine himself, but finally he was compelled to employ a stenographer. The first day of dictation was done in the old Windom mansion in Washington. Mrs. Blaine was greatly alarmed soon after the work began by hearing a loud discussion and tramp of feet in Mr. Blaine's library. She rushed to the room and found Mr Blaine dictating in a loud tone. Mrs Blaine laughed and besought him to be less vehement, for she said unless you make less noise we will have the police in for disturbing the neighbors.

Mr. Phelps said that at present Mr Blaine was living very quietly at Augusta. Gail Hamilton arrived there January 1 and will remain there some time. Mr. Blaine spends the morning writing. In the afternoon he goes out riding or sailing in his ice-boat. He is getting so fat," said Mr Phelps, "that I fear for him should the boat meet with an accident. Mr Blaine is greatly interested in the erection of his new house at Bar Harbor, and this has kept him occupied when he had spare hours. The house is to be a model. Every one of the family had suggestions for it, and so all will have just what they wanted in the house. It will be a magnificent structure.

POLITICAL FUTURE.

Talking about Mr Blaine's political future, Mr. Phelps said that at present Mr Blaine was not thinking of politics. He was a man who gave himself up mentally, physically, and emotionally to the subject in hand. That business has been his book. He has done nothing else but that. Now that it was finished his new house was his object. Mr. Blaine himself is not thinking of 1888, but his friends cannot help but see that the anti Blaine element is all over the country have died out. The party has been beaten, and there is no anti Blaine element. The republican party is again united. While Mr Blaine's friends do not think of again pushing him forward, they recognize that New York will again be the pivotal state, but they also recognize that to carry that state the Irish vote will be necessary. When the Irish World refused to support Mr Davenport it said that while the Irish vote withdrew its support from that candidate it wanted to state that the Irish vote was independent, and had not changed its views for Blaine, and was willing to vote for him again. Now the friends of Mr. Blaine see that Senator Sherman and Senator Logan are the two leading candidates of the republicans. Sherman is strong in the East, Logan in the West. Both are acceptable to Mr. Blaine. Can either carry the Irish vote? The friends of Mr Blaine will carefully consider this point when the time comes and if they find that there is no one who they believe can enlist the Irish vote and at the same time carry New York then they will urge Mr Blaine to again run. Certainly the friends of Mr. Blaine in this emergency will be anxious to have him a candidate and if this is so Mr. Blaine should be willing to sacrifice himself.

THAT DELMONICO DINNER.

There is an incident in the last campaign which has never been fully understood and for which Mr Blaine has been most severely criticised, not only by the press but by the public, because they never understood the truth in regard to the matter. It is the celebrated millionaire dinner in New York. When it was first announced Mr. Blaine opposed it. He foresaw what the public would say. He opposed it from the start. He actually telegraphed that he would not attend, and subsequently refused verbally in ... a delegation of leading republicans called on him and said that although there were six or eight millionaires to be present there were 100 of the prominent and influential republicans of the state and city to be there also. They wished as representative republicans to hear his plans and converse with him. They argued that these leading men of his party thought that it was for the party's good that he should attend the dinner. Why would he let his own individual opinion weigh against the united opinion of such a vast representative body of men who only had his welfare and interests at heart? It was only after this argument that Mr Blaine yielded, but even then he went with apprehension.

NOTES.

The liquor law remains as heretofore.

Resolutions of thanks to the correspondent of THE OREGONIAN were adopted in both houses.

Thanks were returned to all connected with the legislature to-day from his excellency the governor down to the little page Willie Haggemre. In thanking Secretary Owing considerable difficulty was experienced owing to the opposition of several members.

THANKS.

The correspondent of THE OREGONIAN can not allow the occasion to pass by without returning his hearty thanks to the members and officers of both houses, one and all, but more especially to the chief and assistant clerks, without whose assistance he would have worked under difficulties. His thanks are also extended to his excellency, Gov. Squire, for various courtesies rendered in the kindest manner possible.

And now, as the doors of the capitol are closed, and the legislation all over, your correspondent will also close his legislative reports, trusting that the readers of THE OREGONIAN are satisfied as to their correctness.

COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, Feb. 6.

Weather cloudy to light rain late in day. Light arrivals of produce are noted and the amount of business done is small. In no direction is there any marked improvement, while some of the local lines are weaker. The first call session in this city was held this afternoon. It attracted a number of local speculators, but no sales were recorded. Very few in the grain trade were in attendance. Wheat grades in the call exchange, as the Portland grain and stock exchange will be designated, consist of No. 1 Oregon and No. 1 Walla Walla. Both to be clean, bright and reasonably free from other grain, Oregon to be white. On call $1 12½ was bid for Walla Walla spot and $1 10 for March. No. 1 oats were offered $1 05 per cental. The merchandise lines are in fair dealing. By Tuesday all delayed freight will be in and business will once more be of a steady nature. In our report this morning of sugars a similar error was made, the quotation of 5¾c for new having been written for new D. Arrivals of this grade came to one firm and were not large. It will doubtless find good request.

Overland receipts include 300 cs 1 tank car coal oil, 4 cars wagons, 2 cars machinery, 263 cs lemons, 50 cs can goods, 50 ctes hams, 15 ctes rolls, 25 sks nuts, 50 cs lye, 210 cs lard, 10 kits pigsfeet, 2 bbls baking powder, 6 cs cream tartar, 45 kgs 5 cs syrup, 2 sks 4 cs spice, 5 cs 4 bbls confectionery, 1 hf bbl 31 pls 63 bxs fish, 66 butts, 26 bls 194 bxs tobacco, 6 cs cigarettes, 2 cs cigars, 51 bls bagging, 8 bxs nails.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 2672 ctls wheat, 184 sks onions, 191 sks potatoes, 41 cs eggs, 113 lbs hides, 13 pkgs butter. Also 7700 ctls wheat from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—No new business reported but the presence of a large open list will doubtless bring about something very soon. The quotation for iron is 40s@41s 3d. with the shippers' idea about 40s. At San Francisco iron secures 29s 6d and 30s and the market is firm. The 29s 6d charter is believed to be old business. A San Francisco advice says it is known that five medium iron have been taken up for August to December canceling at 39s 3d to 40s for orders by London and Liverpool houses. San Francisco exporters are inclined to doubt the statement, and it is certain they have taken none. The iron bark Cambria came into Astoria yesterday unheralded, and is open for charter.

WHEAT—Chicago and New York to-day pursued an irregular course closing rather better, near options being the strongest. San Francisco buyers are taking hold with more freedom, and the result is an increased trading. Here there is nothing of moment done, and to all appearances the market is lifeless. Buyers will not seemingly go above $1 20 for valley, a figure which attracts nothing, but which promises to bring buy soon. Walla Walla grades are nominally quoted at $1 10 @1 12½. Receipts are again noted and selling is again in order. While holders have not said much, it is believed that offerings of this grade must soon be free. The foreign markets offer nothing new.

FLOUR—Trade quiet, but the request is fair. Prices show no change. Receipts now light.

MILLSTUFF—Less activity to market, prices having evidently settled. The request for bran and shorts is good, and the supply no more than enough to meet it. We quote jobbing prices as before.

OATS—A weaker shipping market causes a loss of confidence here among shippers, while holders show no anxiety to sell. For feed the figure is 37@38c, sales having been made at the extreme and 38c. To obtain more retailing must be resorted to.

POTATOES—Buyers bidding down under a weaker shipping market and inability to ship promptly. To-day paying prices are 25c, 27½c and 35c for Garnets. Peerless and Burbanks. Offerings not materially reduced.

ONIONS—Prices were lately forced up by the action of one firm in buying largely, and $1 50@1 75 is paid. The market is by no means firm, and greatly hinges upon the result of speculation.

PROVISIONS—Some eastern breakfast bacon, hams and lard in. This meets with ready sale, as stocks had been cleaned up. Values are without change. Local cured meats continue to supply bulk of demands.

FRUIT—Apples if choice are wanted at 65@75c. There has been quite a request for northern shipment. The car of Sicily lemons is being sold out at $6 50.

EGGS—Very firm at 15@16c and stocks are again low. Rather better prices are looked for with next week.

CHICKENS—Freer receipts, but the market is quite steady at $3@4.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Governments were very dull and firm. Stocks were dull, the only activity being in early dealings, and in most cases the highest figures of the day were reached about the end of the first hour. The movement thereafter was within narrow range until late in the day, when there was a decided decline, ranging from ¼ to over ½, and the market closed heavy. Prices this evening, compared with those of a week ago, show advances ranging from small fractions to 3⅜, the latter Lackawanna.

The Mail and Express says: Mining shares were very dull but strong. Sales: Horn Silver $3 50. Caledonia Black Hill $2, Silver Cliff $6, California and Virginia $2 65, Silver King 6⅜.

MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Money, 1½@2. Prime paper, 4@5. Exchange bills $4 87; demand, $4 89.

THE NEWS OF SATURDAY.

Following is an epitome of the news of Saturday, printed in full in the SUNDAY OREGONIAN:

Collector Beecher is now in Washington.

It is said that Sparks has determined to remove Special Agent Thompson, of Washington territory.

Vilas's action in canceling mail contracts, when they have been sub-let, is to be contested in the courts.

Lorillard's will has been filed for probate. It bequeaths $50,000 to James Kennedy, a former employe. All the residue of the estate goes to the widow.

The senate committee on rules has ordered an adverse report on Platt's resolution requiring that executive nominations be considered in open session of the senate.

The remains of the late President Garfield have been placed in a massive bronze sarcophagus, costing $20,000. The military guard about the vault will be continued until next June.

The rate-cutting contest at Chicago has taken a wider sweep than at first supposed. By applying the $5 50 reduction on second-class tickets between Chicago and the Missouri river, California immigrant rates are cut from $52 50 to $47.

A dispatch from Gloucester, Mass., announces that the schooner Maud M. Storey, carrying a crew of fourteen men and engaged in the Grand Bank halibut fishing, has not been spoken since December 14, and has been given up for lost.

The subcommittee of the house committee to which was referred the bill providing for construction of the Tehuantepec ship railway have agreed to report favorably to the full committee a bill similar in its main features to the Vest bill.

Solicitor-General Goode, who has been specially designated to conduct the suit against the Bell Telephone company to test the validity of their patent, has secured the services of the following named gentlemen as special counsel to assist in the prosecution of the suit: A. G. Thurman of Ohio, Grosvenor Lowery of New York, who is a specialist in electrical matters, and Jeff Chandler of Washington.

The house committee on public lands has agreed to report favorably a bill to forfeit the Southern Pacific land grant, except the right of way through public lands and all necessary land for station buildings, depots, machine shops, side tracks, all lands included within the limits of any village, town or city site, and any lands sold by the railroad company and in possession of actual settlers, to an amount not exceeding 160 acres. The question of forfeiting the Northern Pacific land grant was considered, but no action was taken.

PACIFIC COAST.

It is now a certainty that Ang Tai Duck, the Chinaman who murdered Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wickersham, at their home near Cloverdale, last month, will be arrested by the Japanese government at Yokohama.

A letter from Van Horne, of the Canadian Pacific, announces that practically conclusive arrangements for steamship connection between Vancouver island and San Francisco have been made, and the line will probably be open for through freight tariff by the latter part of June.

Track on the C. & O. is now laid to a point five miles north of Delta. From 800 to 1000 Chinese are at work in the tunnels and on grading above Portuguese Flat, and the masonry contractor is employing between 125 and 150 men, among them many stone cutters. One tunnel has been completed since last operations were begun, and three others are now in progress of construction.

Chinatown in San Francisco is overcrowded and the Chinese companies are securing tickets to China for poor Chinamen for $25, and it is stated that $10 of this is paid by the companies. At Victoria the following notice has been circulated by the Six Companies: "On account of the harsh treatment a number of our countrymen received from the hands of a class of unprincipled white men, we have made arrangements with the O. & O. and the P. M. S. S. Co's. to run the four steamers, City of Pekin, City of New York, Gaelic and Belgic, from the 27th day of the twelfth month to the 29th day of the first month, for the purpose of carrying home those of our countrymen who should feel disposed to return to their native land at the reduced rate of $25 for each person. Men at and about the age of 60 will be given passage free and a present of $16 in addition, and those below that age and in extreme poverty, upon proof of such circumstances, will be given free passage and a gift of $10. Those who choose to avail themselves of this opportunity will oblige by sending in their names at the earliest date possible."

FOREIGN.

The Vatican will, in the future, be represented at the Chinese court, and China will send an ambassador to the Vatican.

The new British ministry has been given the seals of office. Mr. Gladstone is rusticating at Tentmore, seat of the Earl of Roseberry.

The French chamber of deputies, by a vote of 347 to 116, has rejected the proposition of the radicals to extend amnesty to political offenders.

Servia has sent a cool and evasive reply to a joint note of the powers requesting her to disarm. It is surmised that Greece offered to join her in resisting the demand.

The Grand Duke of Hesse and his daughter, Princess Irene, are going to St. Petersburg to celebrate the betrothal of the latter to the Russian grand duke. The crown prince of Portugal is to wed the daughter of the Count and Countess of Paris.

Contagious!

I am a native of England, and while I was in that country I contracted a terrible blood poison, and for two years was under treatment as an out-door patient at Nottingham Hospital, England, but was not cured. I suffered the most agonizing pains in my bones, and was covered with sores all over my body and limbs. Finally I completely lost all hope in that country, and sailed for America, and was treated at Roosevelt in this city, as well as by a prominent physician in New York having no connection with the hospitals.

I saw the advertisement of Swift's Specific, and I determined to give it a trial. I took six bottles, and I can say with great joy that they have cured me entirely. I am as sound and well as I ever was in my life. L. FRED HALFORD.

New York City, June 12th, 1885.

In March of last year (1884) I contracted blood poison, and being in Savannah, Ga., at the time, I went into the hospital there for treatment. I suffered very much from rheumatism at the same time. I did not get well under the treatment there, nor was I cured by any of the usual means. I have now taken seven bottles of Swift's Specific, and am sound and well. It drove the poison out through the boils on the skin. DAN LEAHY.

Such as Lost Manhood, Nervous and Physical Debility, Exhausted vitality, Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Prostatorrhœa, Impotency, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, Diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Lungs, Heart and Stomach; Premature Decline, Weakness in Woman, and all Functional Derangements that result from youthful follies or excess in later years.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

Middle Aged Men

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in such cases and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs. Address Box 623, Portland Or.

THE RIOT AT SEATTL[E]

The Militia Fires upon the Mob with Deadly Effect.

FIVE MEN KILLED AND WOUNDED

The Governor Declares the City under Martial La[w] and Calls for Volunteers—The Mob Disperses and Quiet Prevails.

SEATTLE, Feb. 8.—All last night the authoritie[s] were busily engaged making preparations to a[s]sert the dignity of the law as soon as day ap[pe]ared. At 3 o'clock a company of deputy sheriff[s] marched to the Ocean dock, where the China[men] were guarded by the anti-Chinese committee[. The] committee were made prisoners, and guard[s] were thrown out, protecting all approaches to th[e] dock.

Warrants had been prepared for the arrest o[f] the leading agitators, and as soon as day broke ... of militia served the warrants, and the me[n] were removed to jail. All of them, however, wer[e] bailed almost as soon as papers could be made ou[t]. Judge Greene having ordered the sheriff to pro[duce] the Chinamen in court at 7:15, this officia[l] marched to the Ocean dock at 7 o'clock, at ... head of the Seattle Rifles, a local militia organiz[ation], company D, National Guards of Washingto[n] and about 100 Home Guards. The Chinamen wer[e] taken from the steamer and dock, and escorted t[o] the courthouse. This move seemed to take th[e] anti-Chinese element by surprise. A few were o[n] the streets as the procession passed through, an[d] though hoots and yells were heard, no one a[t]tempted to interfere with its progress.

DECISION OF THE CHINESE.

At the court house guards were thrown out i[n] every direction, and every approach to the build[ing] carefully protected. An immense crowd soo[n] congregated, but were easily held in check by th[e] sentries.

The Chinamen who had been on board th[e] Queen of the Pacific were first taken to the cour[t] room. Judge Greene addressed them. He sai[d] that he had been informed that they were kept o[n] board the steamer against their will, and was de[termined] to find out if this were true. Chinamo... would be protected by law if the authorities wer[e] able to do it. If they wanted to go they could go; if they wanted to stay they could stay.

Each Chinaman was then called by name, an[d] asked whether he wished to go or stay. Sixty-fiv[e] said they would go, and twenty-two preferred t[o] stay. The judge then addressed himself to thos[e] who chose to stay. He told them this trouble wa[s] likely to recur at any time; that the sentiment o[f] the community was strongly in favor of going; bu[t] thought the authorities were able to protect the[m] if they desired to stay. They would at least mak[e] an effort to do so.

The names were then called again, and six o[f] those who had chosen to stay changed their mind[s] and stated a desire to go. This left but sixtee[n] desiring to stay. They were escorted to places o[f] safety, and the others were taken back to th[e] steamer.

Chinamen who had been confined in the ware[house] on the dock were then told that the cit[y] would pay the fare of any who desired to go to Sa[n] Francisco, but were told, as the others had bee[n] that they would be protected here if possibl[e]. About 175 chose to go, and seventy-five to stay. The former were accordingly marched back to th[e] dock, and the others were taken to Chinatown.

A DEADLY VOLLEY.

So far there had been no violence, but the street[s] were constantly growing more and more crowde[d]. The work of loading the Chinamen on the Quee[n] of the Pacific then commenced, and went on vigo[r]ously. At 11:30 Capt. Alexander announced th[at] the vessel would receive no more. Fully 100 wh[o] wished to go, and whose passage had been pai[d] were thus left on the dock.

After consultation it was decided that the[y] should wait until the sailing of the next steame[r]. The Queen of the Pacific accordingly swung o[ff] from the dock, taking 196 Chinese. Those who re[mained] then shouldered their blankets and starte[d] to return to Chinatown, under escort of the Hom[e] Guards.

At the corner of Main and Commercial streets a[n] immense crowd had congregated. As the proces[sion] approached yells and hoots were heard on a[ll] sides. Finally a few in the crowd made a rush fo[r] the Chinamen, attempting to break through th[e] line of Home Guards. There was a general im[pression] that the Guards would not fire, and th[e] crowd had little fear of them. At first the Guard[s] attempted to beat back their assailants with th[e] butts of their muskets, but the latter attempted t[o] wrest the weapons from them. At last the orde[r] was given, and the question as to whether th[e] Guards would fire was solved all at once. A volle[y] rang out and five men fell.

The crowd receded several paces, horror struck. At once the Seattle Rifles, who were just leavin[g] the dock, came up on the double quick and formed a line to support the Hom[e] Guards. In another minute Company D cam[e] from the courthouse on the dead run, and fell in t[o] support their comrades.

WITHSTANDING THE MOB.

The scene for a time was remarkable. Troop[s] formed a hollow square facing up and down Com[mercial] and Main streets. The Chinamen in it[s] midst had thrown their blanket rolls on the groun[d] at the first fire and were crouching behind them. Outside the square a tremendous crowd swayed t[o] and fro with cries of rage and defiance, while th[e] wounded men were placed in wagons and haule[d] away. For fully an hour the square stood facin[g] the crowd in this manner; not a soldier flinched, and the men kept their places apparently cool a[s] veterans. At last the crowd dispersed sufficientl[y] to allow the Chinamen to continue on their way t[o] Chinatown. From this on excitement and bitte[rness] increased. Denunciations of the Hom[e] Guards were heard on all sides and prominent ci[ti]zens belonging to that organization were threat[en]ed with hanging by the mob. At last a warran[t] was sworn out in the police court, charging fiv[e] of the Guards with shooting with intent to kill. A constable attempted to serve the warrants, bu[t] Judge Greene declared that the Guards were offi[cers] of his court and that he would not have the[m] molested.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED.

Just before the warrants were served, howeve[r], Gov. Squire had determined to take vigorous a[c]tion. It was plain that most extreme measures were necessary, and the following proclamatio[n] was issued:

WHEREAS, Heretofore on the 7th day of Feb[ru]ary, in consequence of the inflamed condition o[f] the public mind in the city of Seattle, and grave disturbance of the public peace therein, I, Watson C. Squire, governor of the territory of Washington, issued my proclamation warning all persons to de[sist] from breaches of the peace and peaceably re[turn] to their homes, except such as were disposed to assist the sheriff and the other duly constituted authorities in maintaining law and order, and re[questing] all persons who were disposed to assist in maintaining order to enroll themselves under the sheriff immediately for that purpose; and

WHEREAS, Numerous breaches of the peace have occurred and more are threatened; and

WHEREAS, Said proclamation has proved in[ef]fectual to calm the public mind and preserve th[e] peace, and

WHEREAS, An insurrection exists in said city o[f] Seattle, by which the lives, liberties and property of citizens of the territory and sojourners withi[n] its territory are endangered; and

WHEREAS, The civil authorities have proved powerless to suppress said insurrection or prevent such breaches of the peace; and

WHEREAS, The necessity for martial law withi[n] said city exists, and it is deemed proper that a[ll] needful measures should be taken for the protec[tion] of such citizens and sojourners and of all offi[c]ers of the United States and of the territory in the discharge of their public duties within sai[d] city; now,

Therefore, Be it known that I, Watson C. Squire, as governor of said territory and commander in chief of the militia forces thereof, do hereby de[clare] martial law ... in said city of Seattle, and do hereby order that no person exercise any office or authority in said city which may be inconsistent with the laws and constitution of the United States or the laws of said territory, and I do hereby suspend the writ of habeas corpus and declare martial law within said city.

Done at the city of Seattle, territory of Washington, this 8th day of February, A. D. 1886. Witness my hand and the seal of the territory.

WATSON C. SQUIRE, Governor.

This, of course, stopped all judicial proceedings at once. Gov. Squire, at the same time, telegraphed President Cleveland stating that the city was in a state of actual insurrection, and urging ... Maj. A. F. Alden was appointed provost marshal, and the military authorities took complete possession of the city. Orders were issued closing all business houses between the hours of 7 P. M. and 6 A. M.—closing saloons indefinitely—and giving warning that all persons found on the street without passes after 7 P. M. be arrested. By subsequent order drug stores, hotels, restau[rants] ...
